Rusk Sees No A-Ultimatum For Vietnam

By BENJAMIN WELLES

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday that the United States "is not contemplating any nuclear ultimatum" to North Vietnam.

"I don't want there to be any misunderstanding about this," he emphasized.

Rusk stressed that "without any such ultimatum, implied or otherwise," the U.S. remains both ready and eager to meet with the leaders of North Vietnam.

"We will lay a schedule for our withdrawal on the table any time if they will also lay a schedule of withdrawal on the table," he pledged.

The secretary's emphatic rejection of a nuclear ultimatum to Hanoi was in answer to a proposal by Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill. Findley had suggested that the U.S. warn North Vietnam through the secretary general of the United Nations to fix a time and date for peace talks and say that if it did not the U.S. would feel free to expand its weaponry—even to the point of using nuclear arms.

The interchange followed testimony by Rusk in favor of the administration's $3.2 billion foreign aid bill for fiscal year 1968. The committee is being asked to authorize $2.6 billion for economic aid plus $596 million in military assistance.

Alluding to the economic growth and power of the U.S., which he termed "almost beyond comprehension," Rusk said that total U.S. output this year would be ten times that of Communist China or all of Latin America, twice that of the Soviet Union with the "gap continuing to widen" and equal to that of all 14 other North Atlantic treaty allies plus Japan.

The sums being requested by the administration for foreign aid for the fiscal year commencing July 1, he said, amounted to 0.7 per cent of the U.S. total national output. By contrast, in 1949 economic assistance funds totaled 3 per cent of the gross national product, he pointed out. The gross national product is at present about $764.3 billion a year.

Rusk conceded that there had been "theft and diversion" of A.I.D. commodities rushed to South Vietnam in 1965 to stave off a "crippling inflation" which, he said, threatened to "undercut the whole military effort."

Monarch Hostile To Coup

By HENRY KAMM

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
ATHENS—A ranking member of the military junta ruling Greece indicated unmistakably yesterday that King Constantine remains hostile to the coup d'etat that brought the junta to power.

Lt. Gen. Grigoris Spandidakis, deputy premier and defense minister, said that he hoped the king would eventually agree that the coup of April 21 was the only way to save Greece from disaster. But he raised his hands upward and shrugged his shoulders in a gesture of reluctant assent when it was suggested that Constantine had not yet done so.

This is the first admission of the king's continuing hostility by a member of the junta. The new leaders of Greece, in their public statements since the coup, had claimed the young monarch's support from the beginning.

"Probably on the first day the king was not very happy," Spandidakis said, "but now relations are very good."

Spandidakis asserted that the coup was the work of the entire army. But he conceded that the retirement of five members of the supreme military council immediately after the coup came at least in part because these generals had not taken part in it.

"They were very informed," he said. "They did not understand what everything was."

According to junta sources, Spandidakis himself was not informed until the later stages of the preparations. He agreed to take part, informed sources believe, in the hope of representing the king's interests.

As a result of the coup, the defense minister said, Greece is now even more firmly in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization than before. In the days of the politicians, according to the general, Greece's membership in NATO had been subject to political bickering.

Sen. Long Apologizes As Critic

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long apologized yesterday for his criticism of the Senate Ethics Committee but said the group used too-high standards in judging Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

Meanwhile, Dodd took his first formal step in his defense against the committee's censure recommendation, sending his colleagues a letter asserting there are no facts to support the finding that he improperly billed both the Senate and private groups for travel expenses.

Long, a Louisiana Democrat and assistant Senate majority leader, apologized to the Senate for saying last week that half of the six-man committee would have been unable to stand the type of examination to which Dodd was subjected.

Long later extended this appraisal to cover half the members of the Senate. He made no specific apology on this point in his speech Thursday but said he stood ready to apologize to anyone who feels an apology called for. No one spoke up at this point.

While four of the six committee members listened impassively, Long followed his apology with a plea that Senate members should be "judged as human beings and mortals and not as saints."

Recover Body From Conewango

A body believed to be that of James Leo Laughlin, a Lakewood, N.Y., man missing since March 10, was found on a Conewango Creek island at Venturietown at about 5:30 p.m. yesterday.

Douglas E. Ward, North Warren Volunteer Fire Department chief, and his son Douglas Martin Ward discovered the body on an island near Greenwald's auto wrecking yard.

Sheriff Donnell E. Allen Jr., who acted as deputy coroner, said, "There appears to be little question as to identification, and little question that the cause of death was drowning. Investigation as to whether the death was by suicide or accidental is continuing."

State police trooper William C. Timmins said Ward found an overcoat on a small island by North Warren Wednesday evening. Timmins said that the coat contained literature of Sunshine Biscuit Co.

Laughlin was an employee of the Warren plant of the baking firm.

Timmins noted that height, weight and clothing of the body tallied with the description of the missing man. Dentures and glasses were found on the body.

Timmins said these will have to be examined by Laughlin's dentist and optician before identification can be said to be "positive."

Laughlin, a resident of Winch rd., Lakewood, was last seen at 8 a.m. Friday, March 10, by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn Olive Laughlin, when he left for work.

He reportedly parked his car at the Akeley garage at the east end of the Akeley bridge over Conewango Creek. A person answering his description was seen leaving the car and standing at the east end of the bridge. Laughlin reportedly suffered a nervous breakdown in November, 1966, and was under a doctor's care.

The body found yesterday was probably the object seen in the creek April 18. Police and at least four fire departments searched the creek that day after they received a report that what appeared to be a body had gone over the falls at a dam near Oakview Tavern.

Young Ward, told by his father to watch the creek after the sighting was reported, saw an object like a body floating in the water at North Warren. He

Senate Group Would Have Present Draft

By NEIL SHEEHAN

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — The Senate Armed Services Committee unanimously recommended yesterday a four-year extension of the Selective Service Act that would preserve President Johnson's power to draft eligible 19-year-olds by lottery.

In its report for submission to the Senate, the committee also urged the retention of undergraduate student deferments. The report agreed with the President that most post-graduate deferments had become an abuse and should be ended.

In his draft message to Congress last March requesting a four-year extension of the act, Johnson announced that he was terminating graduate deferments except for medical and dental students, but called for more debate on the question of undergraduate deferments.

The President also said that by Jan. 1, 1969, he intended to begin drafting eligible 19-year-olds by a system of random selection or lottery. He has the power to decide on deferments and to draft by lot under the current law and will retain this authority if Congress extends the act without amendments to the contrary. Major portions of the act expire June 30.

The committee's decision was announced by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., committee chairman, after its final session on the draft yesterday.

"The committee is not convinced that a random selection system would really result in fairer sharing of military service, but it is not so opposed to a trial of a random selection system that it has recommended a prohibition of the system."

While the committee thus expressed misgivings, its decision not to oppose a lottery was considered distinctly favorable for the administration.

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, has said he will submit new legislation to prevent the President from creating a random selection process.

But the Senate committee's action yesterday raised a potential obstacle for Rivers. The Senate is expected to vote next week on the Russell committee's draft legislation.

The administration contends that since a decision has been made to begin drafting the youngest, the 19-year-olds, first—rather than the oldest men first as the present system does—a random selection process is necessary. Only about one man out of seven available will actually be taken under normal peacetime conditions, and thus all must be exposed to the same risk through a random selection process in the interests of fairness.

In its report the Senate committee said that while it favored the retention of undergraduate deferments until the student received his bachelors degree, dropped out of college or reached 24 years of age, it felt that once the deferred status had ended the student "should then be exposed to the same vulnerability to the draft as persons who are between the ages of 19 and 20."

Marines Dig In On Hill

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — Weary U.S. Marines dug in last night on the explosive-scarred slopes of Hill 881 North with the hope that, perhaps today they could drive tenacious North Vietnamese regulars from its crest.

Conquest of Hill 881 North should wind up some of the bloodiest fighting of the war, an 11 day campaign in which the Marines have won two other hills at a cost of 900 casualties.

With 157 dead and 264 seriously wounded, they count 506 of the enemy killed and estimate 610 others have been wiped out in the American drive to clear high ground in the strategic sector adjoining the demilitarized zone on the north and the Laotian frontier on the west.

A Marine spokesman announced a battalion of the Leathernecks edged up Hill 881 North yesterday afternoon against enemy sniper fire, but stalled short of the summit and entrenched for the night.

While planes and artillery pounded enemy bunkers on the peak, two American shells strayed into Marine lines, killing one and wounding nine.

Only a few miles to the southeast, 300 or so Communist troops attacked and partly overran a U.S. Army Special Forces Camp at Lang Vei. They killed 28 of the defenders—two American Green Beret advisers and 26 of the irregular garrison—in a fierce fight launched with a mortar barrage before dawn. Seven enemy dead were left behind when the Communists withdrew.

CONGRESSMAN'S POLL SHOWS

23rd District Wants Vietnam Win

By HUGH FLEMING
TMO Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The people of Pennsylvania's 23rd Congressional District have told their congressman, Albert W. Johnson, that they want a strategically sound effort for victory in Vietnam, retaining our troops in Europe, no income tax increase through a 6 per cent surcharge, an increase in the amount beneficiaries can earn under Social Security and that they are for a balanced budget.

The poll was conducted by a local newspaper and Johnson's office. Johnson made public the results from a questionnaire mailed to all homes in his district last February.

The replies to the questionnaire showed that the war in Vietnam was in most people's opinion the foremost crisis facing our nation today. Fifty-seven per cent of those answering the questionnaire felt that he should go all out for a total victory, nine per cent wanted to continue our present course, nineteen per cent to hold the present line and nine per cent to withdraw.

Johnson said he agreed with the majority opinion in the poll but did not rule out efforts for peace negotiations. On removing our troops from Europe, 61 per cent said no and 24 per cent said yes with a sizeable 15 per cent giving no opinion. "I personally agree with the majority in the district that withdrawing our forces from Europe at this time would be a mistake," said Johnson. An overwhelming number, 75 per cent, are opposed to the proposed increase in income taxes through a 6 per cent surcharge. Nineteen per cent said yes and six per cent voted no opinion.

Johnson said he thoroughly agreed with the majority and was convinced that federal expenditures are grossly excessive and should be cut deeply before we have an increase in the tax burden. On the subject of returning a substantial portion of federal taxes to the states with no strings attached the congressman said he was disappointed that more replies did not favor it. The results showed 58 per cent for and 34 per cent against.

On multiple questions on Social Security, 78 per cent wanted the amount beneficiaries can earn raised and 18 per cent said no while almost alike amount asked for a minimum monthly payment of $100.

Johnson said the increase in crime has focused attention on the ease with which a person can purchase a gun in the United States.

"The 23rd District being essentially rural in nature and in the heart of the big game area of Pennsylvania, the people cherish the right to own and buy a gun without federal interference and they voted on this subject 61 per cent for and 36 per cent against.

The replies in court controlled wiretapping in national security cases were a whopling 90 per cent affirmative which according to Johnson makes it very clear that the public has become "fed up" with court decisions protecting criminals and with little protection for society.

Seventy-three per cent voted no to seating Powell under any circumstances and Johnson's only comment was that he voted his vote against seating Powell showed he was with the majority of his constituents.

On other questions 51 per cent were against trade with Communist block countries and 39 per cent for; 78 per cent against cross city school busing and 15 per cent for; 68 per cent against abolishing the House Un-American Activities committee and 19 per cent for and 53 per cent against our trade embargo on Rhodesia and only 26 per cent for, with no opinion from 21 per cent.

Johnson said he received much comment on this subject including disapproval of England trading with North Vietnam and the disinclination to get in another war thousands of miles away.

Eisenhower Plans to Help Choose 1968 GOP Candidate

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI
HARRISBURG (AP) —

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated yesterday that he intended to have a hand in the selection of a Republican presidential candidate next year.

"I might have a personal choice, but it's much too early to discuss that right now," Eisenhower said as he returned to Pennsylvania from his annual four-month winter vacation in Palm Desert, Calif.

"Right now I'm not missing any opportunity to keep still," the 76-year-old former chief executive said as he cordially brushed aside inquiries into his favorite presidential prospect.

Eisenhower's comments on the presidency were viewed as significant because of his staunch neutrality three years ago when former Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater easily captured the GOP nomination.

Looking back, the so-called Republican moderates have said that the only way Goldwater could have been denied the nomination was for Eisenhower to have announced a personal choice.

These same moderates have expressed hope that Eisenhower would make his position known before the Republican convention next year.

After chatting with reporters for approximately five minutes, Eisenhower and his wife, escorted by the secret service contingent assigned permanently to the former president, entered the family car for the half-hour drive to their Gettysburg home.

Before leaving the Harrisburg railroad station, however, Eisenhower repeated his position that the United States' military involvement in Vietnam was a proper course to pursue.

The retired five-star general said he had a "long talk" with Gen. William Westmoreland, commander of U. S. forces in Vietnam, during Westmoreland's visit to this country last week.

Eisenhower called the Vietnam struggle a "nasty thing," but added quickly:

"I think militarily we are doing all that can be done."

The Vietnam situation, he said, was complicated by the difficulty in achieving political stability and pacifying the countryside.

Eisenhower said he was "improving" when questioned about his recuperation from a major gall bladder operation last December.

On state political matters, Eisenhower said he discussed a "number of personal things" with former Gov. William W. Scranton before Scranton left office. But he added that he had no idea whether Scranton could be persuaded to run for public office again.

"When he renounced any future political office, we lost an awfully good man," the former president observed.

Hill 881 South Is Twisted Knob of Desolation, Death

By STEVE STIBBENS

HILL 881 SOUTH, Vietnam (AP) —The stench drifting across the cleared battlefield yesterday could mean only one thing.

The bodies of more regulars from North Vietnam's 325th Division would be found by U.S. Marines in the aftermath of a long and bloody fight.

Hill 881 South was a twisted and broken knob of desolation. Dirty, bearded Marines wandered amid the huge crates left by days of pounding by planes and artillery.

Some dug shelters. Others rested under littered tree limbs.

To the north, across a deep valley, was Hill 881 North. Other Marines lay in the tall elephant grass on its slopes as bombs and shells fell on the summit they hoped to wrest from the tenacious enemy.

More Marine dead also are being found on these scarred hillsides that nobody really wants.

"We found one of our lieutenants today," a battalion commander said. "They (the Communists) had stuck a grenade into his body for a booby trap." Lt. Col. Gary Wilder, 37, of Cincinnati, Ohio, commands the 3rd Battalion of the 3rd Marine Regiment. His outfit was hit the hardest in the fighting for Hill 881 South, which was finally captured Tuesday.

One company walked up the jungled hillside from a ravine. It was blasted by machine guns firing from bunkers just yards away.

"We pulled back fast," Wilder said. "Then artillery and planes clobbered the hill with everything."

One Marine said the company had to leave its dead and some wounded on the hill. He said there were bodies napalmed and burned beyond recognition.

When Wilder's battalion took refuge in and near the ravine, the enemy opened up with rockets and mortars.

"My men were tired; physically exhausted," Wilder said. "They wanted to pull back and rest, but I could not let them."

"They had so many dead and wounded to carry that they could not move."

Wilder said the North Vietnamese kept coming out of their bunkers between bombardments by artillery and planes.

"One night we saw them come out and start to set up a mortar," he said. "We called for artillery and the first round was a direct hit. We found the tube the next day."

Wilder, a veteran of four years in Vietnam, said he could not tell how large a force was on the hill. Later it turned out to be a regiment, which could mean 2,500 men.

"We were hit hard and we got hurt," he said. "Our casualties were pretty demoralizing until we got on top of the hill and started counting enemy bodies."

Body

reported what he had seen, but was not widely believed.

The next day, while the creek was still high, Ward and assistant fire chief George Look put a wooden box into the water at the place where the boy indicated he had seen the object. The box, floating freely, settled against land about 100 yards from where the body was found yesterday.

The body was not found earlier, Ward said, because of high water.

For the last three days, now that the water level is lower, Ward and his son have been searching the area.

Long

Long, who added that he is not sure he could measure up to the Ethics Committee standards is the only senator thus far who has spoken in support of Dodd. The recommendation for censure is expected to come before the chamber next week but no date has been set.

Dodd's defense move was a six-page letter insisting "there are absolutely no facts whatsoever" to support a recommendation that he be censured for billing to the Senate official travels for which he had been reimbursed by private organizations.

That was one of two accusations on which the committee based its April 27 recommendation that Dodd be censured for financial misconduct which "tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

The other: an assertion that he put to personal use at least $116,083 in funds collected through political testimonials and for his Senate campaign. Dodd's initial defense move did not touch on the latter charge.

LBJ Seeks to Halt Rail Strike Threat

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed yesterday a law forbidding a nationwide railroad strike until 1969 by seeking a voluntary wage agreement if possible but providing for compulsory settlement if necessary.

"It represents the slightest possible intrusion upon the process of collective bargaining," Johnson said in a message to Congress.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz insisted at a White House briefing that the proposed legislation would not amount to compulsory arbitration to force a settlement.

Both railroad and union spokesmen criticized the Johnson plan, but the industry said it won't oppose the legislation.

Spokesmen for the six shopcraft unions in the dispute indicated they would put up stiff opposition in Congress.

Johnson's proposal would create a five-man White House board to exert intensive efforts to win a voluntary agreement, and then imposing binding terms if this fails.

The board's proposals, if there was no agreement within 90 days, would go into effect for two years retroactive to last Jan. 1.

The unions and the railroads could keep bargaining for a different agreement, but any strike or lockout would be banned by the law.

"It is the President's deep and firm hope that the parties will be able to reach a settlement in this dispute during the first 30 days," said Joseph Califano, White House assistant.

Wirtz said he believes the Johnson proposal will produce a settlement within 60 days after it is enacted by Congress.

Wirtz and Califano called the plan "extended negotiation and mediation to a finality," and described it as unique to collective bargaining.

"Mediation to finality is still compulsory arbitration, which is foreign to the American way of life," said P. L. Roy Stemmler, president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists.

"The only settlement acceptable to railroad shopmen is one freely negotiated by the parties," added Joseph W. Ramsey, vice president of the machinists, one of the six shop unions.

The railroad's chief negotiator, J. E. Wolfe, said the plan would not prevent future rail labor crisis. He said the industry will continue to press vigorously for a new law to deal with all such disputes.

Wirtz said the 90-day period would begin as soon as Congress acts on Johnson's proposed superseding a 47-day strike delay imposed by Congress that began May 3. Congress earlier had enacted a 20-day delay at Johnson's request.

Neither has yet announced his intention of seeking re-election.

Tulip Thieves Nabbed

Two girls were caught taking tulips from the park just east of Hickory st., bridge last evening according to Police Chief Michael Evan. Some 30 tulips were reportedly taken.

Evan said he expects that charges will be filed today against the girls, 15 and 20 years old.

"They were caught in the act," he said, by Sgt. Donald E. Fitch and patrolman Dennis Schmaeder. A resident of the park area had reportedly seen the girls and called police.

Tulips have been stolen every year for the past 15 years, said Parks and Playgrounds Department head Jim Reier. He said yesterday's alleged theft was "really heartbreaking" because the best of the borough's tulips, grown from bulbs new this spring were involved.

The incident reportedly involved a 10-bed pattern of flowers. Reier said three men had spent three days planting 100 bulbs in each bed, a thousand in all. When a few flowers are taken out of each bed, he said, the beauty of the pattern is destroyed.

Pittsburgh Man Drives Into Deer on Route 62

A Pittsburgh man traveling in Warren County at 8:40 p.m. Wednesday learned how much damage a deer can do.

State police trooper John D. Barnes, said a car driven by Kenneth W. Thompson, of 107 Kay st., was traveling on Route 62 in Limestone township when a deer jumped over a bank directly into the path of the vehicle.

The Thompson car struck the deer broadside. Barnes said Don Parr, game protector, was at the scene to compile his report and remove the dead animal. Damage to the car involved was estimated at $300.

Britain's Negroes Emerge As Major 'Market' Issue

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON LONDON (AP)—Britain's swelling colored population emerged yesterday as a major issue in the nation's bid to join the European Common Market.

The question was raised in the House of Commons. Lawmakers of all parties demanded assurances that all British citizens—black, brown, yellow as well as white Commonwealth immigrants—will receive equal treatment in an enlarged European Economic Community—EEC.

But Prime Minister Harold Wilson sidestepped the problem while acknowledging that it "bristles with difficulties." He promised to deal with it fully when Parliament Monday begins a three-day debate on Britain's application for EEC membership. Wilson did undertake, however, to discuss the issues with the six EEC governments before settling the question of British entry.

In other developments on Britain's approach to Europe: —Government hignups reacted coolly to signals from Paris that President Charles de Gaulle intends to take his time about responding to Britain's application.

The French leader, through aides, has been at pains to reject British suggestions that success or failure of the approach depends on him. British officials said this was just what they expected.

—Wilson's men published official estimates indicating food prices in Britain will rise by 10 to 14 per cent if this country adopts the agricultural policy and system of the Common Market. This would mean a hike of 2.5 to 3.25 per cent in living costs and an added burden on Britain's balance of payments of $500 million to $700 million a year.

Chinese Wall Papers Report Liu Stocking Arms for Coup

HONG KONG (AP)—A long, detailed wall newspaper in Peking has reported that Red China's President Liu Shao-chi and his followers stockpiled arms and military equipment for a coup to topple Mao Tse-tung from power and place former Mayor Peng Chen of Peking in control of the Chinese Communist party.

The wall newspaper—a device of Mao's young Red Guards to carry attacks on his enemies—was brought to Hong Kong by a traveler from Peking. It is considered by experts the most revealing account to date of a monumental power struggle which has been going on in Red China since late 1965.

From inside mainland China came fresh reports of bloodshed in the current "great proletarian cultural revolution" launched by Mao to save his authority.

Japanese correspondents quoted wall newspapers in Peking as saying more than 200 were killed or wounded in Peking's suburbs in clashes between Mao's foes and his supporters Wednesday.

The Tokyo newspaper Yomiuri reported from Red China's capital that one factor mobilized hundreds of persons armed with clubs and stones to prepare for an attack from Mao's "revolutionary rebels." Other reports told of skirmishes in various other mainland districts.

The poster brought to Hong Kong demands that Liu Shao-chi and his followers be condemned to death.

According to the poster, the coup attempt developed as a political move against Mao and grew into a military attempt. Peng Chen, dumped from his positions as Politburo member and mayor of Peking in mid-1966, had long been close to President Liu, and the poster contended that Liu, through Peng, wanted to rule China.

Accused along with the two was Lo Jui-ching, the fallen army chief of staff; Lu Ting-yi, a vice premier who had been propaganda chief until he was purged, and Yang Shang-kun, who was purged as a Politburo secretary.

The poster said the group stored weapons, ammunition, gasoline and oil, military uniforms, food and medical supplies in arsenals north and west of Peking, where Liu might depend on provincial officials loyal to him.

These preparations began in late 1965, the poster said, after Mao decided to launch a "cultural revolution." It said the target date for the power seizure originally had been in February of 1966, but Mao's followers learned of the plot "just in time."

Orbiter 4 Begins Journey

By JIM STROTHMAN CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Lunar Orbiter 4—its spacecraft systems functioning perfectly-winged moonward yesterday to photograph with scientific detail more than 95 per cent of the entire lunar terrain in the most ambitious moon-mapping survey yet attempted.

The craft, a sister ship of Orbiters 1, 2 and 3 which photographed millions of square miles on the moon's backside and portions of its front face, blasted off at 6:25 p.m. aboard a fiery Atlas-Agena rocket to begin a planned 89-hour, 254,519-mile voyage through space.

Forty-five minutes later, after the spacecraft successfully separated from its Agena upper stage, a space agency spokesman said tracking data indicated Lunar Orbiter 4 was on course.

A valve problem earlier almost caused the booster to be grounded. It was overcome in a race against the countdown clock.

Cameras aboard the spacecraft are set to begin snapping pictures May 11.

"We appear to have a good flight," a space agency spokesman said as Lunar Orbiter 4 winged toward its distant target.

An official go-ahead to launch was delayed until 3:30 p.m. yesterday, after project officials agreed that tests on a valve in the Agena's fuel system showed it to be acceptable. A failure of a similar valve sent a $9-million scientific satellite into the wrong orbit last month.

Unlike previous Orbiters, which flashed as low as 25 miles over the moon's terrain to snap closeup photographs of astronaut landing sites, Lunar Orbiter 4 was to rocket into an oval-shaped path ranging from 1,650 to 3,800 miles above the surface.

Great Service to Residents

Residents of Warren County are fortunate that the American Red Cross Chapter here is an affiliate of the national blood program.

It means that every resident is assured blood in any reasonable quantity and at any time—day or night—without cost, other than the hospital administrative charge.

And if any Warren County resident should fall victim to accident or sudden illness when away and blood may be needed, it will be supplied by the Warren County Chapter to the hospital where the emergency treatment may be found necessary.

As pointed out by an official of a neighboring Red Cross Chapter, the blood program offers an invaluable credit card to all persons who are members of chapters affiliated with the blood program. The "credit card" may be the means of saving your life if accident or disaster—or illness requiring blood transfusions—befall you.

The heavy demand for open-heart surgery has increased the need for blood manifold. In fact, blood for such an operation will be collected in connection with the May visit of the Bloodmobile to the county.

The blood program has been made possible through the generous cooperation of hundreds of volunteer donors who give a pint of blood every three or four months—possibly for you or for me. Hundreds of other residents could offer similar assistance by becoming donors.

Contributing blood is not injurious to the donor, who replenishes his normal supply within a couple of days. It requires only the half hour of time necessary in the contribution. But that blood may be the means of saving the life of some friend or member of your own family.

The Bloodmobile will be at Eisenhower High School at Lander and Chapter House in Warren on Tuesday, May 16th, and at St. Francis of Assisi Episcopal Church at Youngsville and at the Methodist Church in Sheffield on Wednesday, May 17th. Active support of the members of the senior classes of the high schools in the four communities is being enlisted to augment other donors in the May visit.

Register today and join the donors who make it possible to offer the invaluable service extended by the Red Cross blood program to all residents of Warren County.

Draft Decision Equable

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON -- The long argument over the military draft is ending in a compromise. It will not satisfy anyone, including the joint chiefs, or the students, or the drop-outs or the Congress, but it will undoubtedly be more equable than the present selective service system.

The unanimous recommendations of the Senate Armed Services Committee are likely to be accepted by President Johnson and Secretary of Defense McNamara. These would extend the draft law for four years but call 19-year-olds into the armed services first, defer college undergraduates and make college post-graduate students more vulnerable to military service.

This will still give an obvious advantage to young men who can afford to pay the steeply rising costs of a four-year college education over less prosperous 19-year-olds who cannot pay their way through college.

Nevertheless, it will remove in most cases the most grievous inequity of the present system. This is the practice of remaining in post-graduate work until after the age of 26 when a man is no longer likely to be called to service.

After four years in good standing at a university, a college graduate, unless he is going on to be a doctor or a dentist or enter some other profession essential to national security, will have to take his chance of being drafted along with the new class of 19-year-olds. At 24, he may still miss military service because the services take far less than the numbers of men now available in each year group, but at least his risk will be greater under the new system than under the old.

The administration was really not prepared to go much further than this on college deferments. A majority of the President's national advisory committee on selective service urged the abolition of almost all student and occupational deferments in order to subject all physically and mentally fit 19-year-olds to an equal risk of being drafted.

This was opposed high in the administration on two grounds. First, it might create undue interference with the education of the high school graduates, and second, it might inflame opposition on the university campuses into a national crisis.

Officials discuss this latter point very cautiously, but it is a factor. The opposition in the universities to the Vietnam war is already an embarrassment and an irritation to the administration, but there is genuine fear here that abolition of all or most college deferments might lead to massive defiance among undergraduates. One estimate here is that if college students were called like any other 19-year-olds, as many as 25 per cent of them might refuse to serve.

Lifting the automatic deferments of most male graduate students is likely to cause considerable controversy, even if undergraduates are exempt. For shortly after this year's class of college graduates get their diplomas, the President must decide whether to lift their student immunity before they can enter graduate school in September.

According to present plans, men already engaged in a graduate course of study will be permitted to finish it, but the Class of 1967 is still in an awkward position. Many of them have been accepted for graduate studies next autumn. Quite a few have planned marriage after graduation on the assumption that they would be exempt, but now they cannot be quite sure.

This is still being argued out within the administration. The chances are that the President will be lenient with those already accepted and approve an executive order that will not lift graduate school immunity for another year.

It is the poor whites and the poor Negroes, however, who will still be raising the old cry of discrimination. At 19, unless they are able to enter college, they will be on the first list to be screened. Already their leaders are complaining that it is the deprived Negro who is last into college and first into the army, and nothing in the new regulations is likely to remove that complaint.

LORD BERTRAND RUSSELL IS CONDUCTING A 'WAR CRIMES TRIBUNAL' TO TRY THE U.S. FOR ALLEGED VIETNAM ATROCITIES . . .

PEARSON & ANDERSON

Kennedy, Viet and the GOP

June 5, 1966, Drew Pearson reported that the United States got bogged down in Vietnam after Kennedy suffered his "humiliating experience" at the Bay of Pigs and "decided to throw the military of the United States behind the small Catholic minority in South Vietnam. And from Eisenhower's total of only one thousand military advisers, Kennedy rapidly escalated American troops . . . to 33,000 Americans in South Vietnam."

On May 1, 1967, the Senate Republican Policy Committee, diagnosing the causes of the Vietnam impasse, stated that American troops increased from 700 men under Eisenhower to several thousand under Kennedy after the Bay of Pigs, and that "it became apparent that the Kennedy administration had opted for military intervention."

WASHINGTON — The strongest opposition to Nelson Rockefeller as candidate for President is coming, not from his bitter Republican foe Barry Goldwater, but from his friend Jacob Javits, the liberal Republican from New York. Most people don't know it, but after Maryland's Gov. Spiro Agnew sent up the first trial balloon for Rockefeller, Javits burned up the wires to the state house in Annapolis. In high excitement, Javits insisted Rockefeller was not a candidate, and urged Agnew to drop the Rockefeller-for-President idea. The moderates should unite, said Javits, around Michigan's Gov. George Romney.

Inside reason why the GOP Senator from New York opposes Rockefeller for President is that Javits is hungry to become the first Jew in history to become Vice President of the United States. If Rockefeller should be nominated Javits would be out, because two New Yorkers could not run on the same ticket.

Knowing this, Sen. Javits played his cards very shrewdly. He began making noises about running for governor of New York himself. This was before Nelson had made up his mind whether to run for a third term. And, while making up his mind, he found Sen. Javits making speeches all over the state indicating that he was not averse to running for governor himself.

Finally the two Republicans, always good friends, got together. Nelson suggested that Javits stop nudging him for governor, and Javits, in turn, made a frank confession that he wanted to run for Vice President. He was willing to support Rockefeller for governor, if Rockefeller would support him for Vice President.

Rockefeller agreed. According to Javits's friends, he also made a "sacred pledge" that he would put his money on Gov. George Romney of Michigan, thus giving the Republicans a well-balanced ticket — a Midwesterner for President and a New Yorker for Vice President.

Rockefeller's most able professional, Leonard Hall, then took over the Romney campaign, and Rockefeller was emphatic both in private and in public about his determination not to run for President.

Recently, however, the "sacred deal" appears not too sacred after all. Two things have happened.

JIM BISHOP

The Owl Had a Sunburn

The members of the President's Cabinet sat around the long gleaming table, chatting, kidding, rolling pencils under the palms of their hands. President Lyndon Johnson came in suddenly from Juanita Robert's office. The conversation died.

Lawrence O'Brien was the first to get on his feet. The Owl had a sunburn. The President nodded in all directions. "Gentlemen . . ." he said. The searchlight eyes swung to the Owl. "Must have been warm at the beach," said Mr. Johnson. The august members of the Cabinet broke into laughter. They know that the Texan works fifteen hours per day, and expects his "team" to work as hard. Mr. O'Brien smiled and shook his head. "Mr. President," he murmured, "would you believe my backyard?"

The Postmaster General will be fifty this summer. He is canny and cunning and candid. He has been in his post only two years, and may go down in history as the only man who ever comprehended the "kept woman" of the executive department and tried to make her honest. The Post Office has been a loser since the days of the pony express.

Normally, the office of Postmaster General is a political payoff. A good PG isn't supposed to ask questions about his department. His eyes on "The Hill" and "The Hustings." This one is different. He wants to know why we lose $1,200,000,000 a year handling eighty billion pieces of mail. He wants to streamline, modernize and reach a break-even point. Right now, it costs each head of family throughout the U.S. $24 in extra taxes to support the mail service. There are 700,000 Post Office Department employees, practically all of them overworked, almost panicky. Sorting clerks work all night, averaging 40 letters per minute into 30 pigeonholes. Mailmen often arrive before dawn to sort their routes by section, by street, by number.

Each letter dropped into a box averages six sortings before it is delivered. The seventy-five largest post offices in the U.S. handle half the mail. The buildings are close to railroad stations at a time when they should be near airports. Once, 10,000 daily trains carried the gray sacks. Now the mail trains are down to 900 a day and the air-mail flights are up to 10,000 a day.

One hundred years ago, clerks sorted the mail from bins to pigeonholes. The system is still the same, but the volume is beyond control; last year it jumped 5½ per cent. The appointment of postmasters is not related to efficiency; 33,000 of them get their jobs on the nod of a Congressman. O'Brien, the most popular man in the eyes of the Congress, hesitates to alienate politicians by firing a postmaster.

John F. Kennedy deepened the mess by recognizing 14 separate labor unions in the Post Office Department. As a result, Lawrence O'Brien must bargain with 24,400 separate units in the unions. Morale in the department is low because most employees are in the four bottom grades, with the highest pay at $7,267 per year. To achieve this, an employee must work 21 years.

The Postmaster General wants to improve service and erase the deficit. None of his predecessors was able to achieve either goal. O'Brien and his assistants are now asking blunt questions. Why should

MASON DENISON

Always On The Go

Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG -- Reporter's Notebook:

WHERE'S HIS EXCELLENCE? Trying to keep track of Governor Shafer is a bit of a task these days; in fact it's been that way almost since the day he assumed office back in January!

In the short time he has occupied the gubernatorial sanctum, he most certainly has earned the right to be called one of Pennsylvania's most hot-footed chief executives to don the robe of office in many a year!

Back in January the ink was hardly dry on his commission as keeper of the squirrel brigade on Capitol Hill before he became involved in a series of back-and-forth junks between Washington and Harrisburg, followed by forays in and out of the state—all on official business of course.

(The question arose at one time as to whether he could recall the color of his chair in the gubernatorial suite, so often was he up and out of it!)

At the moment, and this week is a good illustration, he's in and out of the office scampers about the good Commonwealth selling the idea of the limited constitutional convention over which he labored so diligently to pinch through the Legislature and which he now wants approved by the voters of the state when the question appears on the ballot May 15.

As one Democratic (anti-administration) law m a k e r growled this week:

"I wish he'd sit still; he makes me nervous, so much so in fact that I never know from one day to the next who's running the state these days!"

(That's a good question any time.)

ANSWERING THE CRITICS—When the Governor didn't present his near-two-billion-dollar general fund budget to the Legislature until mid-April, complaints were heard in some quarters over the "hardness" of the Governor in throwing together his fiscal monster.

With indications now pointing to the fact that hearings on the budget will not be finished by the joint House-Senate Appropriations Committee much before the end of the current month, these growls are again being heard on Capitol Hill from some lawmakers.

Actually, it would seem that lawmakers have little room for complaint following the recess—its that has smitten the House and Senate recently (last week's recess and now a two-week recess following this week's two-day tiff). However this isn't the point.

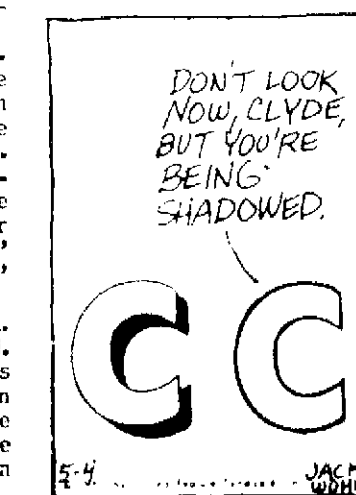

Few lawmakers realize, particularly those of more contemporary note, that prior to 1939 the Governor was required to submit his budget "no later than four weeks" after the Legislature organized for its session that year.

This would place the budget presentation mandate around early February at the latest. On this basis Mr. Shafer could indeed be classified as tardy. However in 1939 this deadline stipulation was changed to read "as soon as possible" after the Legislature organized, which most certainly would clear Mr. Shafer from any charge of fiddling in the fiscal bullrushes unnecessarily!

THE "FREE" GIFTHORSE—When a worker in Pennsylvania loses his job and draws weekly unemployment compensation benefits, it isn't because of what he (or she) has paid toward such jobless insurance, although many a worker believes he contributes toward this fund (as under federal social security).

The employer picks up the entire tab. Any idea what that "tab" has been over the period of the past 30 years since 1937? As of April 1, according to the Bureau of Employment Security, employer contributions stood at $4,284,738,508. How much have jobless Pennsylvanians received from this employer-supported fund during the period? $3,926,973,959.

Open Letter to Svetlana

Dear Svetlana, I really enjoyed seeing you on television last week and you certainly captured the hearts and minds of the American people. I wonder if the Russians would have been as thrilled if Margaret Truman had defected to the Soviet Union?

I know you've been getting a lot of advice lately from everyone, and I hate to add to your confusion, but I feel it's my duty to let you know what you're in for, now that you've been officially adopted as the latest American sweetheart.

First of all, I read where you intended to give a large share of your royalties from "the book" to charity. You were quoted as saying all you wanted to do was buy a car and a dog for yourself, and you wanted to give the rest of the money away.

Svetlana, I wish you wouldn't say things like that.

You have no idea what it costs to live in the United States these days, particularly if you're a successful writer. First you're going to have to pay your lawyers, then your agent, then your business manager, then your accountant and finally your public relations counsel.

So, after everyone takes his share, you're not going to have much left for that car and dog.

SYLVIA PORTER

Stocks For the 'Working Girl'

"Is it possible for you to write a column about stock investing for the average working girl who earns only between $5,000 and $6,000, is single, is not a college graduate and who has financial responsibilities? I am that girl," writes Shirley G. in a letter in which she explains she has a savings account, owns "a few shares" of two high-grade stocks, and would "love to buy more stock but on my earnings, I cannot. Do you have any suggestions?"

Shirley G. has hit me with a commonplace set of circumstances and a commonplace problem which most Wall Street brokers ignore. She has challenged me to get away from the "easy" column directed to men and women with high-bracket earnings and accumulated savings from which they can deduct substantial amounts for stock investments, and to write to and for her.

It's a tough challenge indeed. As one broker said, "we are glad, Sylvia, that we do not have to answer your fan mail." As another commented, "she should have gone to college and found a husband."

But these are scarcely constructive suggestions. So here, Shirley, is what I think you should do:

Start saving minor amounts each week from your earnings until you have accumulated $40 — and then sign up for a Monthly Investment Plan with a New York Stock Exchange member firm and begin a systematic program of pay-as-you-go investing.

When the New York Stock Exchange celebrates its 175th anniversary May 17, one of the achievements about which it will boast is that almost a quarter-million programs are now in force under its Monthly Investment Plan. I submit this total could be at least tripled if Shirley and the millions of women (and men) like her were aware of the MIP procedure and its advantages.

Surely, on $5,000-$6,000 a year, Shirley, you can save 44 cents a day. Over a three-month period, this will grow to $40 and with this $40 you can invest in stocks regularly every quarter. Select a top-notch stock which has a good earnings record, pays dividends regularly and has solid earnings prospects. (Any reputable broker will give you a list from which to choose. The top five favorites of MIP buyers today are: American Telephone; General Motors; Radio Corp. of America; General Telephone, and International Business Machines.)

Your $40 every three months will buy you only fractional amounts of most top-grade stocks, of course, but these fractions will mount up over a period. Your commission on an odd-lot transaction (less than 100 shares) when the total is less than $100 will be a straight 6 per cent. Your $40 should buy $37.74 of a stock; commission $2.26. This is comparatively expensive but you pay no special opening fees, no dues, no assessments or custody fees.

Most important, Shirley, you will get the benefits of averaging out your dollar costs, for you'll be investing your $40 when the price of your stock is declining and when the price is rising — and your cost per share will average out. Since the long-term trend of stock prices is generally upward, your average purchase price should be well below the selling price of your stock in the years ahead. If you continue your periodic purchases in good times and bad, you actually gain when the market is in a downswing.

You own what you pay for, pay as your budget permits. You can arrange to have your dividends automatically reinvested for you and thus increase your holdings. You can stop investing whenever you wish, and you can increase your purchases (to as much as $1,000 a month) if your earnings rise or you receive a windfall.

Much, much bigger investors than you'll probably ever be use this technique of systematic purchases for investing, Shirley, it is an answer for you too.

Three County Schools Enter Youngsville Invitational

By JOHN GANLEY

With all the speed entered in the Eighth Annual Youngsville Invitational Track and Field meet, tomorrow may end before the 4:30 time set by the meet officials.

Fourteen teams have announced that they will vie for the crown currently held by the Warren Dragons.

Three schools from the county, Warren, Eisenhower and the hosting Youngsville Eagles, will compete. Other schools include Kane, Wattsburg, Oil City, Harborscreek, Bradford, St. Marys, North East, Northwestern, Townville, Rocky Grove and Corry.

Some teams who entered last year have passed up this year's invitational. They are Iroquois, Union City, General McLane, Titusville, Johnsonburg, Reynolds and Ridgway.

Waide Ingols, athletic director at Youngsville High School, said that, to expedite the meet, participants in the long jump, triple jump, discus, shot put and javelin will be given only three attempts. In the pole vault and high jump the participants will be given three attempts to make each height.

There will be a team trophy presented at the end of the meet. There will also be individual first and second place trophies for each event awarded by the Youngsville American Legion.

Warren, Oil City, North East and Harborscreek will be the teams to watch, but many of the other schools have outstanding performers.

A rundown of the record-holders, their times and their chief competition this year is as follows.

120 HIGH HURDLES—(Chuck Harvey, Oil City, 1965, :15.1) No one will pose much of a threat to this mark. Sam Dinger of Oil City is about the best entered. Barry Lints of Harborscreek could challenge if he enters the event.

100-YARD DASH—(Jim Shaughnessy, Oil City, :10.1, 1965) On a dry track this mark will probably fall. Tom Daly, a sophomore from North East has been at :10.0 twice this year and is just coming into his own.

MILE RUN—(Bill Ramsdell, North East, 1963, 4:26.2) A strong field and a fast track could bring about the downfall of this mark. Sam Olmes of Oil City, Dave Cobb of Warren and Tom Cowser of Harborscreek are the best in the field. All have been around 4:40, but could go lower on a good track.

880 RELAY—(Warren-Shaffer, Sondericker, Greco and Matthews, 1965, 1:34.5) Again the Dragons have another top team but will be challenged by North East. Running for Warren will be Cauley, Slocum, Spackman and Donovan while the Grapepickers use Ott, Daly, Detzel and Lubke.

440-YARD DASH—(Ed Miller, Titusville, 1961, :51.3) This could be the best event of the day, but it may not touch the record. Mike Spears of Bradford owns a :52.5 this year. He will be running against Bruce Barr of Oil City, Tim Donovan of Warren and Glenn Collins of Youngsville.

180 LOW HURDLES—(Chuck Harvey, Oil City, 1966, :20.0) No one around to even challenge this mark. A good day by either Chris Lytle or Marc Segel of Warren could be enough to take home the first place trophy. Again, watch out if Barry Lints enters.

880-YARD RUN—(Bill Ramsdell, North East, 1963, 2:00.1) Bill Reifstall of North East, Tom Nesgoda and Rich Arpin of Harborscreek will battle the county contingent of Dave Cobb, Warren, and Milt Johnson and Bobby Long of Youngsville. Good race, but no new record.

220-YARD DASH—(Dan Lyons, St. Marys, 1963, :22.45) Record has lasted for quite a while. Whether it makes it through this year is up to the weatherman. Daly of North East and John Cotherman from Oil City are both good enough to give the mark a real shot.

MILE RELAY—(Warren-O'Neil, Cobb, Miller and Donovan, 1966, 3:35.5) It will take the best the Dragons have to lower this mark. The team of O'Neil, Lowe, Spackman and Donovan could set a new standard, if they run as a team. They are about the best the meet has to offer.

SHOT PUT—(Don Bliss, North East, 1964, 51'8) A record guaranteed to fall. If Duane Dye of North East or Tom McDonald of Kane don't break the mark, Fred Corbett of Corry will. He has thrown the 12-pound ball over 60 feet once this year. To our knowledge his poorest throw is around 55 feet.

DISCUS—(Don Bliss, North East, 1965, 165'6) This mark should last for many more years. Youngsville's Gary Carter seems to be the best of the field. All it will take will be a throw of about 150 feet.

JAVELIN—(Don Wilkens, North East, 1963, 195'7) If this mark was going to fall, it would have gone down the drain last year when the likes of Tim Ristau, Mike Spinney and John Kocan were throwing at it. This year the best in the meet might be Bruce Fitzgerald of Youngsville with a throw of 170 feet. Next is Bill Schutz of St. Marys.

POLE VAULT—(Steve Turner, Kane, 1966, 13'7) On a good day, in fact it will take an exceptional day, for anyone to crack this mark. Top entrants are Dinger from Oil City, Long of Youngsville and Joe Pfister of Bradford.

HIGH JUMP—(Ron Ellis, Bradford, 1965, 6'4) This is Barry Lints' event. He has gone as high as 6'8 but lately he's been off. He missed 5'9 in the Mercer Invitational recently. A bad day by Lints and the top spot could go to John Zawacki of Warren or Martin Hoffner of Eisenhower.

LONG JUMP—(Gary Eckelberger, Reynolds, 1964, 20'1¾) This mark will probably fall. If Kay Burleigh of Youngsville or Dick Hale of Eisenhower have good days, they might hit it. Even on a bad day Jim Beichner of Warren has a chance at it.

TRIPLE JUMP—(Pat Shine, Youngsville, 1966, 40'3¾) Beichner seems to have the first place and the record in his back pocket. His major competition will probably come from Parker Johnston of Kane. Both have been near the 41 foot mark, but Beichner has defeated Johnston in a dual meet already.

TWO MILE RUN—(Steve Hammer, North East, 1966, 10:15.5) In this event, the only one in the meet, the defending champ is back. Hammer is better than ever this year. He has broken the 10 minute mark once and has been running in the 10:10 category all year. Billy Shaffer of Warren and Jim Francis of North East will be the chief competition.

TWO MILE RELAY—(Harborscreek--Nesgoda, Krupinski, Dale and Arpin, 1965, 8:26.7) Switch the name Bill Cowser for Krupinski and you have the same team back for the Huskies. They won't be able to walk away with the event. North East and Youngsville (Johnson, Long, Gallagher and Danielson) have strong teams and will push the Huskies.

The meet starts at 10 a.m. There will be a break from about 11:30 to 12:30 for lunch. There will be an admission charge of 50 cents to all people wishing to see the meet.

Fourteen 3 - Year Olds Set for Derby

By BOB COOPER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Damascus, best in the East, and Ruken, champion of the West, headed a field of 14 3-year-olds entered today for the 93rd running of the $125,000-added Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs tomorrow.

It took $509 to enter each horse and it'll cost another $1,000 to get into the starting line-up. In all, the 1¼ mile run around the Downs' flower bordered track will be worth $162,200 with $119,700 going to the winner. Of the total purse, $25,000 has been earmarked for second, $12,500 for third and $5,000 for fourth.

Damascus, winner of three of his four starts this year after a light 2-year-old campaign, was the last entered. In fact trainer Frank Whiteley Jr. was 15 minutes late.

Bill Shoemaker, who'll be riding in his 16th Derby and seeking his fourth victory, was listed as the rider of Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's highly regarded son of Sword Dancer.

Ruken, carrying the hopes of Lou Rowan of Pasadena, Calif., and trained by former jockey Clyde Turk, also was a late entry. He'll be ridden by Fernando Alvarez.

Kessinger Says No to Cage Offer

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Journal yesterday quoted Donnie Kessinger, shortstop for the Chicago Cubs, as denying reports that he has signed to play with the New Orleans Buccaneers of the new American Basketball Association.

A report from New Orleans Wednesday listed Kessinger, who played basketball at the University of Mississippi, as one of four players signed by Coach Babe McCarthy.

"I have not signed," Kessinger told the Journal. "I have been offered a contract, and it's okay, but I have not decided to play basketball. I don't want to do anything to hurt my baseball career and I'm afraid this is what would happen if I tried both sports."

McCarthy announced that Kessinger had signed. He said the "Bucs and Cubs received permission from the Cubs and Manager Leo Durocher to sign the two-time All-Southeastern Conference game star.

The Journal quoted Kessinger as saying he had not completely rejected the Buccaneers offer, but said that he wants "time to think it over."

"Baseball means a lot to me and I wouldn't give it up for basketball," he was quoted further. "I haven't played any serious basketball since I was at Ole Miss. I've piddled around with it some since then, but certainly not on the professional level."

Kessinger, 25, is a native of Forest City, Ark.

The only thing resembling a surprise was trainer Johnny Meaux's decision not to enter fleet Free Tumble as a running mate for Harvey Peltier's Blue Grass Stakes winner Diplomat Way.

Others entered were, Reason to Hail, Successor, Ask the Fare, Lightning Orphan, Dr. Isby, Dawn Glory, Gentleman James, Proud Clarion, Field Master, Barbs Delight and Second Encounter.

Bill Hartack, with the enviable record of four Derby victories in seven tries, stuck by his announced decision to ride Dr. Isby, owned by Perne Grisom of Detroit.

No riders were listed for Proud Clarion and Barbs Delight and trainer Ted Cleveland said he would place either Kenny Knapp or Billy Phelps on Second Encounter depending on whether Hal Steele decides to use Knapp on Derby Trial winner Barbs Delight.

In the draw for post positions, the two favorites were placed side-by-side with Ruken No. 1 and Damascus No. 2, Diplomat Way, probable third choice, drew No. 4 and Successor No. 6.

Walt Frazier to Pass Up Senior Year for Pros

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said yesterday it has learned Walt Frazier likely will pass up a year of eligibility at Southern Illinois University and sign to play basketball with the New York Knicks.

The Knicks offered Frazier more than $100,000 over two years, the newspaper said. The 6-foot-4 guard, who led SU to a championship in the National Invitation Tournament this year, sat out a year because of scholastic problems.

The National Basketball Association club made Frazier its No. 1 choice in Wednesday's college draft. The newspaper said Frazier indicated it would take an offer the size the one the Knicks made for him to turn pro.

RECORD BREAKING EFFORT

Warren's Jim Beichner is airborne on the third phase of the triple jump in yesterday's track and field meet at Franklin. The Dragon junior hopped, stepped and jumped to a new record, 43'3¾", eclipsing his own mark set in the first meet of the season by nearly two feet. As a team, however, the Blue and White suffered its initial defeat of the season, falling to the Knights, 82-68. (Photo by Steele)

Three-Way Tie in Rich Champions International

By RONALD THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — George Archer, Frank Beard and Dan Sikes battled a long, wet golf course yesterday to fashion four-under par 67s and tie for the lead after one round of the $115,000 Champions International. Arnold Palmer was right on their trail.

All three used the massive greens of the 7,118-yard Cypress Creek course to their advantage. Two of Archer's putts snaked in from 50 and 60 feet.

Sikes had seven one-putt greens, as did Beard.

The mighty Palmer, in a fashion typical of the way he has become golf's all-time money winner, fought back from two double bogies to trim out a three-under 68, one stroke off the pace. He tied with South African Harold Henning.

A seven-iron shot on the par 4 No. 15 plopped into the hole from about 145 yards for an eagle. "It fell about four feet short," Palmer said, "and just jumped right in."

Palmer, defending champion here, had just hooked a tee shot into the lake on the hole before for one of his double bogies. The first came on the first hole when he also hooked into a ditch.

Jack Nicklaus, who is having his troubles on the tour this year, soared to a 77, blaming his iron game on his difficulty. He said, "You should never miss the greens here and I missed four."

The course, soggy from several days of scattered showers, stood up well. Only 13 of the star-studded field of 99 broke par. The field includes all the tour's leading money winners.

Ben Hogan, a golfing immortal, found it to his liking. He stepped off to a birdie on the first hole, then followed with back-to-back birds on five and six to move three under par. He carded two bogies and an additional birdie.

"Boy," he said later, "that was a long course for a guy like me."

Hogan, who has finished in the money in the 21 tournaments he has played since the 1961 Masters, toured the course with 31 putts, two-putting several greens after threading the needle to near the cup.

On one green a dog sat down right in front of him as he started to putt from 30 feet. He had to wait until someone ran it away and eventually two putted. When asked if the dog

B'berry Holding Opening Party

The Spaghetti open will be held tomorrow at Blueberry Hill Golf course with John and Callie McJames co-chairmen for the first party of the season.

A big time is being planned and all interested in it will have until 8 p.m. tonight to make their reservations. There will be a mixed two-ball foursome starting at 4 p.m. A "happy hour" will be from 7 to 7:30 p.m. followed by the spaghetti supper.

Also on the committee are Dick and Joyce Miller, Bob and Fran Johnson and Bill Hedman and Josie.

had upset his concentration, Hogan replied "Nothing upsets my putting except me."

Chi Chi Rodriguez, the small Puerto Rican who won last week's Texas Open in San Antonio, Tex., dipped back into the pack with a three-over par 74. Gay Brewer, who ranks second behind Palmer in 1967 money winners, had a 72 for a massive tie for 21st place.

Beard, who current stands 10th on the money list with $27,993, said, "The course was a little soft, but the greens were good." He took four drops out of casual water.

"I'm just happy to shoot par on this golf course any time," he said.

Palmer won the tournament last year with a nine-under 275, a one stroke victory over Gardner Dickinson, who managed only a 75 in Thursday's round.

"I played as well as I can from two through 13 but I'd like to throw out about three holes," Palmer told newsmen in describing his two double bogies and a bogey, which knocked him out of a tie for the lead on No. 17.

Nicklaus had a disastrous triple bogey seven on the 14th hole, a par-four water hole. "First, I drove out of bounds to the right," he said, "My second drive went alright, down the middle. Then, I hit into the lake in front of the green."

He showed signs of coming out of his troubles with a birdie on No. 18.

Dragon Thinclads Upset, Beichner Sets New Mark

By LARRY G. STEELE
Sports Editor

FRANKLIN — Warren Area High School came off second best in the battle of unbeaten Section II track and field teams here yesterday, falling to the Knights, 82-68.

The difference in the meet came on the cladders as the Knights took eight first places to only three for the Dragons, outscoring the Blue and White by 61-36.

Despite two sweeps by Franklin in the field events, Warren copped five of seven first places and edged the host team, 32 points to 31.

Two school records were toppled in the meet, one for each team. Dragon junior Jim Beichner triple jumped 43'3¾", to better his own mark of 41'5 1/3", set in the opening meet this season against Youngsville, by nearly two feet. Franklin's Rich Hancox also broke his own record in the javelin with a 188'7" toss.

The event was marred by a physical skirmish in the 880 that cost the Dragons points and resulted in the disqualification of a Knight runner.

With a large field entered in the event, the jostling on the first two curves of Franklin's five-lane, sharp cornered track was severe. Warren's Dave Cobb, favored to win the event, struggled to get out of the pack on the back straightaway and reportedly had some contact with a Franklin runner in the process.

The Knight, forgetting about the race, took after Cobb, dived and grabbed him around the shoulders, pulling the Dragon to the track. When the Dragon star got to his feet in an attempt to continue in the race, the Knight started swinging haymakers. By the time officials arrived at the scene to intervene, Cobb, his knees bloodied from the fall, was too far behind to continue.

With Cobb out of the race, Rich Hancox finished ahead of Gerry Grygo and Pan Fanaritis to give Franklin five more points.

The Knights also piled up points in the hurdles and sprints, winning every event except the mile, two mile and two mile relay.

Cobb, in an event before the disaster in the 880, took the mile in 4:49.1, with Larry Maxwell of the Dragons copping second place. Jim Shaffer, who has trailed teammate Bill Shaffer most of the season, notched his first win in the event in a 10:36.65 clocking. Shaffer followed him across the line and Al Poust made it a clean sweep, the only one of the day for the Dragons.

The two mile relay team of Ray Lowe, Wayne McCartney, Grygo and Fanaritis got the Dragons five points, but Franklin took both the 880 and mile relays, posting an excellent 1:35.75 in the former.

Beichner was Warren's only double winner, adding a first in the long jump to go with his record-breaking effort in the triple jump. He soared 20'5½" in the long jump and two other Dragons, John Zawacki and Steve Zwald hit the 19-foot plus mark, but Butch Henderson of the Knights logged 20'2" for second place. Zawacki cleared 5'9" in the high jump for another first place in the field, Mike Hackett taking second place. Steve Beyer and Rick Nasman placed one-two in the pole vault, Beyer making it over 11-feet even and Mike Bleech dominated the discus with a toss of 128'7¼".

The Knights swept the shot put and the javelin.

Don Facini of the Knights sprinted to victory in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Tim Donovan's third place was the only Dragon points in the century and Harry Spackman finished second in the 220.

The Dragons had to settle for third place points in both hurdle events. Marc Segel followed Tim Law and Dick Garby of the Knights across the finish line in the highs and Rick Brewster was clocked behind Dave Bierbach and Henderson in the lows.

The 440-yard dash also went to Franklin, Scott Moodie winning in 1:54.1, with Dan O'Neil second and Donovan third.

Pagliaroni Unhappy Asks To Be Traded

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Veteran catcher Jim Pagliaroni said Wednesday night he wants the Pittsburgh Pirates to trade him. Pagliaroni, who has been the Pirates' No. 1 catcher until two weeks ago, said, "I've lost all confidence here. I'm not blaming any particular person, I think it would be best for all concerned if I were traded."

The 29-year-old Pirate player representative said he asked Pirate General Manager Joe L. Brown a week ago to trade him. Brown said he doesn't intend to trade Pagliaroni "just because he wants to be traded. He is a professional. He is getting paid to play for the Pirates."

Pagliaroni said his discontent goes back to last year, and added that his catching has been criticized, but didn't say by whom.

Manager Harry Walker lectured Pagliaroni in the dugout April 23 in Chicago, giving him instructions on how to block the plate after two Cubs had scored on throws from the outfield.

During spring training, Walker used coach Hal Smith as a catching replacement, but was never placed on the roster. Walker said he did it in case of "an emergency."

Pagliaroni said he went to see Brown eight days ago after Walker told Jose Pagan, a utility infielder, to catch batting practice during a morning workout at Forbes Field.

Pagliaroni and No. 2 catcher Jesse Gonder caught the first nine games of the season. Last Thursday Jerry May did the catching. The Pirates went on a five-game winning streak with May catching.

May was hitting .375 going into Wednesday night's game, while Pagliaroni was hitting .105.

Last year Pagliaroni injured his right heel and was never 100 per cent physically since. He finished the season with a .235 batting average.

Mantle One Shy Of 500

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle is just one home run away from joining baseball's ultra-exclusive 500 set.

The 35-year-old Yankee switch-hitter belted his third home run of the year in Minnesota Wednesday night for the 499th of his fabulous career.

Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and four immortals of the game are the only other members of the 500 or more club.

Mays, with only one this year through Wednesday's games, is second on the all-time list with 543. Babe Ruth tops them all with 714.

After Mays comes Jimmy Fox, 534; Ted Williams, 521; and Mel Ott, 511.

Eddie Mathews of the Houston Astros, has 494 and probably will join the 500 club this year. Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves has four this year for 446 and figures to make the 500 club next season.

The only other active player with 400 or more homers is Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs with two this year and a career total of 421 for 11th place in the all-time list.

Mantle, handicapped earlier by a leg injury, has belted his three this year in his last five games. His first two were game-winners.

Beverage Meets Corry On Sunday

The Warren Beverage Baseball Club will meet Corry, an entry in the Chautauque County League, Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at War Memorial Field. The Corry team is sponsored by the Corry Savings & Loan Company.

The Beveragemen and Corry are undefeated. Corry holds a 4-2 victory over Behrend Center College of Erie and Warren defeated Mt. Jewett 7-0. Behrend Center has a veteran team that is rated the best in the history of the school.

Bill LaRosa, manager of the Warren Beverage team, has announced that Steve Kudlock or Rich Matlak will start on the mound for the locals with veteran Guy Conit completing the battery. It is also expected that Ed Rickerson and Ken Magowan will see some mound duty.

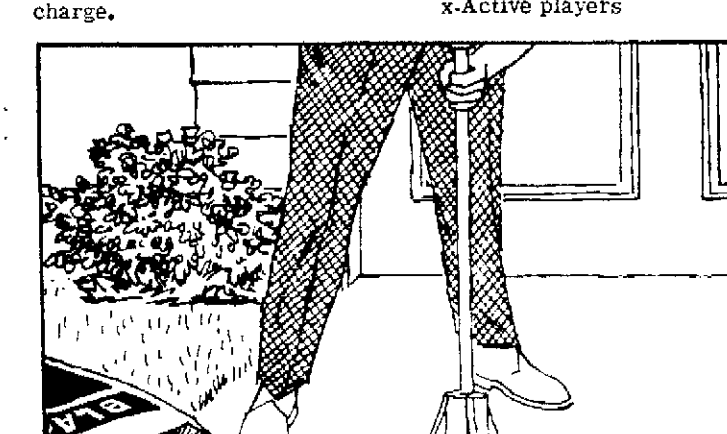

Jim Patterson of Grove City will probably also see mound duty for the Beveragemen. A former Slippery Rock State College hurler, Patterson is reputed to have a good fast ball and fine control. He will be trying out for a berth on the team.

The Beverage starting line-up will include Nick Creola, Ed Rickerson, Jim Hannon, Ken Martin, Guy Conit, Steve Kudlock, Pat Anderson, Ken Magowan, Danny Mellow and Rich Matlak.

There will be no admission charge.

NCAA Committee Considering Early Start for Grid Practice

CHICAGO (AP)—Study of a possible earlier start of collegiate fall football practice as a safeguard against injuries was proposed by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's executive committee yesterday.

The committee which will be joined today by the NCAA's policy-making Council and extra events committee in a weekend session also changed the format of the NCAA golf tourney, placing individual and team title play on a 72-hole basis.

The start of collegiate football practice long has been a controversial subject, especially with the trend to trimester academic programs, which gives some schools a headstart under the existing NCAA rule.

The rule states fall practice shall not begin prior to Sept. 1, or prior to two weeks before the first day of classes, or 16 days before the first scheduled game — whichever ever is earliest.

Most coaches have petitioned in the past for at least a 21-day practice session.

The 10-member executive group Thursday recommended to the council that a study committee be appointed to formulate a 1968 NCAA convention amendment changing the present preseason football practice and starting date regulation.

In the interest of greater safety, the executive committee also recommended that the football rules committee submit a specific program of research to reduce injuries to the NCAA's committee on competitive safeguards and medical aspects of sports.

The committee approved a new format for the NCAA's golf tourney, which formerly had the team champion determined after 36 holes with the top 64 players continuing to play 36 more holes for the individual title.

Now the top 32 individuals, after 36 holes of medal play, plus the top 15 teams will play an additional 36 holes with both individual and team titles based on a 72-hole basis.

Wills Sparks Pirates to 9-3 Win over Los Angeles

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Maury Wills hit a bases-loaded single in the seventh inning last night, igniting a seven-run outburst that carried the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-3 victory over Wills' former teammates, the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Wills, obtained by the Pirates in an off-season trade, delivered two runs with the single and pulled Pittsburgh out of a 3-2 deficit. He later scored on Bill Mazeroski's bases-loaded triple.

Singles by George Spriggs and Gene Alley tallied the other runs in the big inning, which saw 13 Pirates go to bat.

Roberto Clemente's first-inning single brought in Wills from second with the Pirates' first run. Clemente scored after singling in the fourth.

Willie Davis gave the Dodgers their 3-2 lead in the seventh when he doubled home the tying run, then scampered in on Ron Hunt's single. Hunt drove in the Dodgers' first run with a fifth-inning single.

going into the eighth, got one man out and then gave up singles to pinch hitters Tom Reynolds and Greg Gossen, Reynolds taking third.

Linzzy came on and promptly got Al Luplow to ground into a double play, ending the inning.

The Giants broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth on a double by Jesus Alou, a ground out and Willie Mays' ground single up the middle against a drawn-in infield. Jim Hart provided an insurance run in the ninth with his third homer of the season.

The Mets scored in the fourth on Cleon Jones' double, a ground out and a fielder's choice, Jones beating the throw home on another grounder.

A walk to Hart and singles by Hal Lanier and Tito Fuentes produced the Giants' first run in the second.

FORESTER ADDRESSES MEETING

Dr. Wilbur Ward, director, School of Forestry, Pennsylvania State University (right) spoke to a dinner meeting of the Society of American Foresters, Plateau Chapter, Allegheny Section at the Corral Inn last night. Modern Curriculum Aiding Foresters

By DON NEAL

Citing a more modern trend in university training of foresters, Dr. Wilbur Ward, director, School of Forestry, Pennsylvania State University, spoke last night to the Society of American Foresters at a dinner meeting held at the Corral Inn on Route 62.

Starting from the very primary point of "What constitutes the education of a professional forester?" Dr. Ward then stressed the knowledge gap that exists between what foresters were once taught and the kind of education they need today.

Because of the growing need for broader knowledge, he said, courses leading to a degree should presently cover as much as five years now, and that with the rapid advances he foresaw in the future the time may come when a 10-year course would be required.

In detailing the requirements of what he thought made a good student, Dr. Ward said that a person with a capacity to learn and the motivation to study held the best prospects. Tomorrow's forester would be required more and more to develop the ability to apply his background knowledge to the solution of entirely new problems.

He felt that teaching today should be directed more to explaining the reason "why" than to the old method of teaching "how."

Perhaps the most important thing to consider relative to college education of the future, he said, was the outstanding education the students were getting in high schools today. Many of the modern high school courses were more complete than college courses of the past.

This, he said, contributed to the high degree of confidence in students entering college—a very favorable factor in his opinion.

In a question-answer period that followed Dr. Ward's talk, practical foresters raised the question of whether or not forestry students at the college level shouldn't get more training in the field. The complaint being, it seemed, that all graduate foresters expected to start at the "white collar" level.

Present at the dinner were 40 members of the SAF, Plateau Chapter, Allegheny Section.

Steven Rensma, chairman, conducted the business meeting.

WASHINGTON — The president of North American Aviation, Inc., the Apollo spacecraft manufacturer, assured senators yesterday that the company was making a number of technical, inspection and management changes that should enable the nation to meet its goal of landing astronauts on the moon by 1970.

J. Leland Atwood, the North American chief, said he and officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration were also considering stricter supervision of the $23 billion Apollo project and the use of "sharper incentives and penalties" for workmanship.

It was Atwood's first appearance before the Senate Committee on Aeronautical and Space Sciences since the release of two previously confidential reports highly critical of the company's quality control and workmanship. Similar criticisms had been directed at the company by the special review board that investigated spacecraft fire that killed three astronauts Jan. 27.

"There have been technical as well as managerial problems," Atwood conceded. He said that many of the problems resulted from "a rapid build-up in manpower" to handle the complex assignment of sending men to the moon.

"I believe we have a firm basis on which to build future success, and I am confident that we can effectively accomplish the lunar mission in this decade," Atwood said.

But in a speech in the House Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., called on President Johnson to appoint "a high level commission to investigate fully" the national space agency.

Ryan suggested that the commission "determine whether the agency has the competence to carry out the space program, and to recommend changes in the agency to insure that our space program is efficiently and safely administered."

The New York congressman proposed that Dr. Jerome Wiesner, a dean of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, head the commission. Wiesner was director of the office of science and technology under President Kennedy.

Charge Non-Statens Subsidized

By WILLIAM F. DEIBLER

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two Democratic legislators charged yesterday that the state is subsidizing large numbers of out-of-state students at the University of Pennsylvania, a private institution.

The legislators, Rep. Eugene Gelfand, D-Philadelphia, and Edward W. McNally, D-Cambria, also said that despite increased state aid, tuition at the Ivy League school has risen to $1,980 a year.

"I'm not debating the grandeur of the University of Pennsylvania," McNally said, "but I'm beginning to wonder if we can afford it."

Representatives of Penn. replied that the school makes a valuable contribution to the state's educational system, and that the institution would be "in deep trouble" if state aid is significantly reduced.

The Penn officials appeared before a joint House-Senate appropriations committee, which is holding hearings on Gov. Shafer's proposed $1,861 billion state budget.

The university is requesting $12.1 million in state funds for the 1967-68 fiscal year — $2.8 million more than its current appropriation.

However, the governor's Budget Office has recommended the school be given only $1.8 million.

Good grief! could it be possible I bought so much again?

"TOO MUCH" FURNITURE CLEARANCE

"At first, I thought they were joking!" Dick Scalise exclaimed when he was presented with the long inventory lists of furniture he ordered last January. "I can't believe it's possible I could have over bought again!" Frankly, I'm jammed... I've got to clear the congestion and fast. The third floor is jam-packed, the stockrooms are piled to the ceiling, the warehouse is overflowing and the new summer furniture I ordered is just starting to overwhelm me. My predicament is your gain... you'll save plenty, I'll promise you that, I've slashed prices on everything, in most cases I'll guarantee you'll save at least 20%, in some cases like sofas and desks you'll save up to 50%. Come in and see me, take advantage of my perplexing situation and get in on the savings.

THE ANNUAL MOTHER AND DAUGHTER DINNER at Emmanuel Baptist Church on Tuesday evening had a special note added to it when the thirty-five members who were there presented a going-away present to Elaine Webster (Mrs. Daniel E. Webster) who was leaving the next day for Chicago, San Francisco and then Japan with her husband, and their three-year-old son Barry. Mrs. Webster is the daughter of the Rev. Howard Cartwright, pastor of the church, and Mrs. Cartwright, Mr. Webster, who is an Airman 1st Class in the United States Air Force, is the son of Mrs. Althea Webster of 458 Prospect street, and the late Dr. George D. Webster. Enroute they are spending a week with Mrs. Webster's grandparents near Chicago, the A. B. Cartwrights and Mrs. Garrett Postema. The Air Force has booked the entire family on a Pan American jet flight from Travis Air Force Base, California, on May 16th. Airman Webster, who just completed a tour of duty at the Tampa AFB, Florida, will be stationed at the Itazuki Air Force Base, Japan. A meteorologist, he will have been in the Air Force nine years this coming September. At the mother-daughter affair on Tuesday, Mrs. Webster with Mrs. Carol Danielson and Mrs. James Camp presented a program honoring all mothers, and Mrs. Cartwright brought the evening to its close with a few appropriate words.

A SILVER ANNIVERSARY OPEN HOUSE will honor Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Martin of 314 West Main street, Youngsville on Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. The affair, hosted by their children, will take place at the National Forge Clubhouse at Irvine. All relatives, neighbors and friends are invited to share the happy occasion with them.

MINIATURES: Chandlers Valley Grange No. 846 is having a tureen supper at the regular meeting tomorrow at 7 p. m. it is hoped every member who can, will attend. The Grange is also having a dinner on Sunday, May 21st.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you made the statement that interfaith marriage is risky at best and you are against it.

Now I would like to ask what you think about one party changing over and accepting the religious faith of the other. My husband is very devout and I am lukewarm about my religion. My parents would not like the idea of my changing over, but this would not bother me.

So far as I know you have never expressed an opinion on this. Will you please do so in print? — DIFFERENT IDEAS

DEAR DIFFERENT: A mixed marriage stands a much better chance if the lukewarm party changes over and joins the devout one. Serious difficulties often develop when both parties are strong believers and each closes one eye and pretends there is no problem. The children of such marriages are the real victims. Often they are left to choose between the mother's religion and the father's religion. This can produce guilt, ambivalence and anxiety.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last weekend I took a girl skiing, out to dinner and to a dance. This set me back $14.00 which is not exactly a drop in the bucket for a 16-year-old boy who has to work for every cent.

I had a good time and so did the girl. But on the way home, after dropping her off, I came to a very startling realization. What was it all for anyway? Here I spent $14.00 and nothing to show for it. Is it too much to expect a token of gratitude instead of a mere: "Good night, I had a very nice time?"

I think I was taken for a sucker and I am pretty burned up about it. What's your opinion? — JIM

DEAR JIM: I don't know what you mean by "a token of gratitude" but it seems to me the girl expressed her gratitude adequately when she told you she had a very nice time. I gather you feel she should have smooched it up a little in exchange for the $14.00. If you would settle for a girl who hangs such a cheap price tag on herself you can't be worth much, Buddy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to comment on the letter from the grandmother who tried to protect her grandchild from an angry mother when the youngster picked a rose from the neighbor's garden.

I am not a mother, but I was a grade school teacher for 30 years and I have helped train hundreds of children.

When a child brought me flowers which I suspected had been snatched along the way we would have a class discussion about respect for the property of others and plain, everyday honesty.

If the mothers of these children had spent a little time explaining these important principles of behavior, the youngsters would not have helped themselves to someone else's property. Unfortunately it's the children who suffer when parents fail to teach them the basic rules of society. And, today, we see an appalling amount of evidence that far too many parents have failed. — RETIRED MAM

DEAR FRIEND: Too bad you retired. From the sound of your letter your wisdom is badly needed.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You—For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Jehovah's Witnesses Cancel Meetings For The Weekend

The presiding minister of the Warren congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, Mr. Theodore Smith, said today that all meetings for this weekend have been cancelled at the Warren Kingdom Hall because all associated will be attending a Bible assembly in Dunkirk, New York, May 3-5. Mr. Smith said, "All in the congregation, young and old, have been making preparations for this assembly for some time."

The assembly has as its theme: "Supply to Your Faith, Endurance" based on the Scriptural text at 2 Pet. 5:6. More than thirty speakers will be featured on the program. A model ministry school tonight will demonstrate the training for the ministry that all witnesses receive. A highlight at this assembly will be the baptism. This total immersion symbolizes for one of Jehovah's Witnesses a complete dedication to God's will and to be his minister. The Saturday evening program will stress the need of parents assisting their children to become spiritually mature and responsible members of the Christian congregation.

Mr. Smith said, "We are especially looking forward to Sunday's program. At 3 p. m. there will be a showing of the color film, "God Cannot Lie." This Bible story film covers history from the creation of the first man down to our day, and projects even into the future.

Mr. L. R. Beda of the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses will narrate the film. E. W. Benke, circuit supervisor of congregations will speak Sunday evening on the subject: "Youth Parents and the Christian Congregation." Mr. Beda will then deliver the final discourse on "Serving the Everlasting Life in View." The sessions at Floral Hall, Dunkirk Fairgrounds will conclude with song and prayer at 6 p. m. Sunday. All sessions are open to interested persons.

TODAY'S THE DAY

Sherma, the Magician is to be here this afternoon at the Market Street Elementary School, with a program of magic that has been proclaimed tops professionally all the way from here to Florida. Tickets will be sold at the door at 50 cents. The price includes an orange drink for the children. The show will begin at 3:30, as shown in the poster above which was created by one of the school children, Liz Gibb.

Diane Geddes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Geddes of 103 Alexander street, entertained her parents at the annual Parents' Weekend, April 29-30, at Adrian College in Adrian, Michigan. Diane is a freshman and is majoring in English.

On Saturday evening, many of the parents were in attendance for the "full house," all-campus musical production of "My Fair Lady," produced by the music and theatre departments of the college.

Other features of the Saturday during Parents' Weekend included a baseball doubleheader with Kalamazoo College; a synchronized swim show in the College Natatorium; a planetarium show in Robinson Planetarium, and an hour-long carillon concert from the Herrick Carillon tower, which was dedicated last May.

On Sunday morning, a family worship service was held in the Adrian College Chapel, with Dr. John H. Dawson, president of the college since 1953, the speaker. Music was provided by the 90-voice Adrian College Choir.

At Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, William L. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Peterson of 1 Willoughby avenue, has been named to the Dean's List in the Conservatory of Music. A freshman, Bill is majoring in organ.

A New You by Emily Wilkens 'With-It' Etiquette

Although etiquette sounds so formal and complicated, its significance is truly homespun and simple—i.e., consideration for others.

Without doubt, etiquette makes your world go round. Good manners aren't something one adopts for special occasions. Whether standing in line for a bus or standing in the receiving line at a society masquerade, the same rules really do apply.

You prove you're "with it" when it comes to etiquette by adopting those three little words: "please" and "thank you." If you doubt their effect, practice them for one hour in a normal day. Try saying "please" to a salesgirl, "thank you" to a bus driver. When they beam their appreciation, you won't ever again wonder about being polite. You've made their day... and possibly their next customers will get even more courtesy because of it.

Introduction Intricacies

An introduction to etiquette must cover the intricacies of introductions. The tip-off is that introductions aren't all that difficult. The rule-of-thumb to remember: You almost always say the older person's name first, as in "Father, this is John Smith. John, my father." The exception to this younger-to-older rule is with an especially distinguished individual. In this case, present other people to him, saying his name first, no matter what his age.

When you are introduced, extend your hand, if you like. This is optional (with or without your glove), but it is imperative to look the newcomer in the eye and voice an appropriate greeting, whether it's "How do you do?" or "I'm so happy to meet you."

Now that you've been introduced to "society," here are some etiquette extras that will definitely make your social situations memorable.

Pointers on Parties

Party Protocol: You may be really shy, but remember your hostess has worked hard to have a "swinging" party. Everyone has been invited because presumably you'll enjoy each others company. It's considered bad manners to hang back with a favored person or two. Then, too, if you do you just might be missing out on a really exciting new friend.

Do's on Dining

Dining Delicately: Here common sense is the key. If you're at all mixed up about what to do, follow your hostess. Whatever she does is permissible to imitate. If you have used the wrong fork, it will be replaced by a practiced waiter. Don't fuss with your food. If you don't like it, don't eat it, but certainly don't discuss the details.

Tips on Telephones

Telephone Taboos: The best manners with this line of communication is to have something to say when you call. Keep in mind the dining and retiring habits of the people you're phoning. When using public phones, remember that people may be waiting.

The easiest guide to proper etiquette is to follow the Golden Rule. You know how you like people to treat you. Do unto others, as the saying goes, then you can't miss giving the impression of a considerate, congenial and composed NEW YOU.

JUST FOR YOU: If tips give you trouble, an easy way to come up with the standard 15 per cent is to take 10 per cent of the total bill and then half again that amount. If the bill is $8.00, 10 per cent would be 80 cents, plus 40 cents more, so the 15 per cent tip is $1.20.

South the declarer at six clubs was afflicted with a brain spasm and suffered a catastrophic loss when he failed to uncover the winning line of play.

The 3-1 commitment was a reasonable undertaking despite the extreme duplication of values in the spade suit (observe that if North's king of spades were exchanged for either the king of diamonds or the king of clubs South would have been able to claim his contract after the opening lead).

West opened the ten of spades which gave declarer a free finesse. He played the dummy's jack and when East covered with the queen South ruffed in his hand.

Trumpes were drawn in two rounds ending up in dummy and one ace and king of spades were cashed—on which South discarded the nine of diamonds and a small club. The ace of clubs was played next followed by a small club to the queen.
When West turned up with both the king and jack declarer conceded defeat.

South's technique was faulty. He did not require an immediate discard in diamonds. If he concentrates his efforts on clubs an additional club can be developed even if the king is offside provided that the suit is divided three-two which is the normal expectation.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—It is never easy to begin certain things, and still harder to end others (like commitments, engagements you wish you had never made).
So be accurate, have all data; be sure of all things on this type of day.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Especially favored now: Education, government, community matters. This should please you, who love to aid your fellowman. Your talents for organization work are needed.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Select your own course if you prefer, but avoid contention with those who have a program on which you ought to work. Shun tendencies to bicker. Strong allies available.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—The early, well-ordered start can put you ahead of many, give you advantages they will be striving for later. But KEEPING UP the good trend matters, too. Your diplomacy can save the day.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—The dignity and inspiration for which Leotes are noted can make this day outshine many past good ones. Note, however, where ideas and proffered aid come from: Sidestep the unethical.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Look to revitalized ambition and straight-shooting tactics to put over most issues and carry you through safely. A good day under Mercury's generous influences.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Concentrate on essentials, forget anxiety, stress your innate sense of proportion and humor. In this way you can avoid tension, have a satisfactory day.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio)—Avoid a present tendency toward procrastination. Do not over-crowd your schedule. Be realistic in demands and do not expect the unreasonable. Results may be slower than you'd like but will be more enduring.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Don't let unexpected situations dismay you. Prevent them from crossing you up by being your usual philosophical self and stressing good management.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn)—Fine stellar influences! Your personality will be bright, your ideas convincing, and you competent if you pitch in with will and grit.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—The present position of Uranus should enliven your interests, send you in search of better methods and give you fine ideas for better returns. Special skills encouraged.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Along with other planets, Neptune indicates some fine advantages
now. Matters requiring delicate handling and maneuverability especially favored.

YOU BORN TODAY: Governed by Venus, the planet of love, you are endowed with fairmindedness, practically; also a high regard, and talent for, the artistic. You may enjoy sculpture, dramatic reading, a manual skill.
But, with all your capability, you lack confidence, so build this, and bolster it constantly. Your real strength, mental and physical, is most effective when the going is rough and the opposition powerful.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

AIR POLLUTION

Every year approximately 133 million tons of dirt and other chemicals are released into our air. One-half of these pollutants come from 1 per cent of the land area where 50 per cent of the people live. The consequences depend upon the type of pollutants, wind, temperature, and the age and health of the populace.

In many areas the dirty air irritates the nose and throat leading to the phlegm that causes postnasal drip and morning bronchitis. Heavy smoking or drinking is a competing cause and it may be difficult to determine which to blame.

The inhalation of stronger pollutants over a longer period of time may increase lung irritation and cause chronic bronchitis and emphysema. In addition the victim of a respiratory disorder is hypersensitive to contaminated air and will suffer more. A healthy person in the same environment may have bearable days.
Others complain of eye irritation, headache, nasal congestion, cough and nausea.

Every effort should be made to limit the levels of atmospheric pollution. This is everyone's responsibility including those who burn garbage in incinerators, drive cars, or have an interest in electric power plants or other industries.

The problem is most acute in areas where thermal inversion exists. Air is usually warmer at ground levels and cooler above. An updraft clears out polluted and brings in fresh air. Thermal inversion is just the opposite. The cold contaminated air is trapped below.
There are no updrafts or breezes. The air becomes toxic, and more so when it undergoes chemical changes.
There are many angles to dirty air but in several instances filtrative devices to clean the atmosphere will pay for themselves in health benefits received.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Brain Wave Helmet.
ULCER AND DRIVING
F.W. writes: Have you ever heard of an ulcer victim not being allowed to drive a car?

REPLY
Yes. Some individuals are relaxed when driving;
others are tense and easily upset by road hogs, Sunday drivers, and wise guys who cut in and out of traffic. These are medical, not legal reasons.

HYDRATION
N.S. writes: What does drinking eight glasses of water a day do for you?

REPLY
Water prevents dehydration and constipation. It helps to replace fluids lost thru the skin, lungs, and kidneys.
Large amounts of fluid are required by the kidneys to eliminate waste products and toxic substances.

HEPATITIS AND ALCOHOL
M.T.U. writes: Can a person who is convalescing from a long, drawn out case of infectious hepatitis take an occasional drink?

REPLY
Why get me into trouble? Ask your physician, who knows whether your liver can take it. Most victims should wait a year before they imbibe.

GREASY DANDRUFF
S.W. writes: Will X-ray treatments cure seborrheic dermatitis of the scalp?

REPLY
Yes, but radiation is used as a last resort. Simpler treatments are available.

News of

TIDIOUTE

From Our Corner

By Lenore McIntyre
LOCAL WAR

The war in Vietnam may be relegated to second place as front line action shapes up for an all-out push in the local conflict. Here in Tidioute, we have a major battle which we are optimistic of winning but somewhat pessimistic as to how long it will take. Our local conflict is people vs. bugs and litter. The Tidioute Lions Club is challenging the black fly, the insect which apparently is intent on gaining possession of the land and driving out the people. The Tidioute Garden Club is waging battle against litter and/or everything that detracts from the natural beauty of our environs.

In either case, the enemy is as sneaky as the Viet Cong. The black fly already has established a foothold in our fast-moving creeks and streams and there continues to hatch out division after division of well-trained troops.

These guerrillas infiltrate lawns, gardens, golf courses, picnic areas, and favorite trout fishing holes. Their favorite harassing strategy is to remain hidden until the time is ripe, then swoop out in hordes to attack eyes, ears, nostrils, open mouths, and other exposed areas of the human anatomy.

They do not fight according to the regulations of warfare laid down by the Geneva Convention nor do they abide by the Marquis of Queensberry rules. The only thing humane about them are their victims.

They carry hidden tanks of poison in their minute bodies, and vials of disease-producing germs. They pounce down upon unsuspecting people, puncture their flesh and inject their poison and germs. They leave their victims a quivering mass of discomfort: red, itchy, swollen and infected.

As in any armed conflict, we have a few conscientious objectors and doves. Most everyone is in favor of using every available technique and weapon to fight and conquer this enemy but there are foreigners who just don't understand our policies and our commitments. In this democratic community, we must be tolerant where they are concerned, and wait until they are bitten.

Mr. Rusk and Mr. McNamara are presently preoccupied but in their absence from this southwest Warren county theater of operations we have been strengthened by our allies, the state entomologists. Of course, they will be here strictly in advisory and technical capacities.

There are many facets to the people vs. black fly conflict. In the meantime, what we need is a good press.

In the midst of waging war against the black fly, the Tidioute Garden Club seeks to induct volunteers into its crusade against litter and for a prettier countryside. This isn't going to be an easy battle, either, because all the while you are trying to cultivate your posies, clip your hedge and mow your lawn, clear away clutter, and beautify the highways, those little black fly guerrillas will be sniping away at you. But we will overcome.

Our bouquet this week goes to Mayor G. K. Lodge and Councilman Walter McKown. These two men "graduated" Wednesday and received certificates for satisfactory completion of a six-week course in fiscal policies for local governments. Their alma mater? The Titusville campus of the University of Pittsburgh.

Chartered Bus For Public Tour

A tour for the public has been arranged by the Tidioute Garden Club for Saturday, May 20. Sponsored by the Western Pennsylvania Conservancy, it will be guided by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barber of Slippery Rock. The trip will include visits to Old Stone House, Blazing Star, and McConnell's Mills. A chartered bus will leave from the Allen's Camera Shop at 8 a.m. and return at 8 p.m. Tickets are $4.50 per person and those planning to participate are asked to pack a sack lunch; dinner will be at the Village Inn in Harlansburg. For reservations you are asked to contact Mrs. James King, 484-3520. The largest merchant fleet in the world is owned by the United States.

ELIZABETH CHASE

Appointment For Betty Chase

The appointment of Miss Elizabeth A. Chase as Special Assistant for Legislation of the Bureau of Health Manpower (BHM), U. S. Public Health Service, has been announced by Dr. Leonard D. Fenninger, Bureau Director. BHM was established January 1, 1967, and is charged with increasing the quantity and improving the quality of health workers.

Miss Chase, a native of Ithaca, New York, earned her Bachelor of Science degree at Cornell University and taught school in Pittsfield, Massachusetts, before going on to earn her law degree from the Duke University Law School.

Miss Chase comes to BHM from the Office of the Surgeon General, where she served as Chief of Legislative Services of the Division of Public Health Methods. Prior to that assignment, she had served as an assistant in the office of the Commissioner of Vocational Rehabilitation, and also had served as Secretary of the HEW Patents Board. She began her Federal career in 1948 as an attorney in the Office of General Counsel, U. S. Treasury Department.

Admitted to practice before the New York State Bar, and a member of the New York State Bar Association, the Federal Bar Association, and the National Lawyers Club, Miss Chase holds the distinction of having twice received the Superior Service Award of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare—in 1959, and again in 1965. She resides at 2212 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., and is the niece of Mrs. Gordon B. Chase of Tidioute and the late Dr. Chase.

First Aid Class Begins May 10

Tidioute firemen will sponsor a first aid course, consisting of five two-hour classes, starting May 10 at 7:30 p.m. in First Methodist Church social rooms. Subsequent classes will be held in the same place at the same time on May 15, 17, 22, and 24.

A registration fee of seventy-five cents is required to cover the handbook which each participant will use. Anyone interested in joining the class should contact Paul Craft, 484-7716, by Saturday, May 6.

The course is open for anyone of the Tidioute area, teenagers, men and women. The life you learn to save through first aid may be your own, or someone dear to you.

Church Activities

Mrs. Thomas Shoemaker entertained the Baptist Ladies' Missionary Society at her home Monday, May 1. Mrs. Willard McKay led the devotional period and the women worked on advertising and publicity for the evangelistic meetings to be held in the local church June 19-25. The Rev. Richardson of Indiana will be the evangelist.

About 40 people attended a meeting at First Methodist Church Wednesday night to hear the Rev. Louis R. Dennis talk about his missionary work in China, Borneo and other Southeast Asia places. Adjoining to the social rooms, Mr. Dennis answered many questions and displayed pictures and curios. Refreshments were served by the Good Shepherd Circle.

CIRCLE MEETINGS will be held Wednesday, May 10, by WSCS Circle Three at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Herbert Farster, and at 8 p.m. for Circle One at the home of Mrs. William Yeager.

Presbyterians Have Mom-Daughter Dinner

Tables were decorated with spring flowers and accents for the Mother-Daughter banquet Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian Church. The arrangements were made by Mrs. Edward Shanley and Mrs. James Nicholson and enjoyed by sixty guests.

Program chairmen were Mrs. Robert Jamieson and Mrs. Ronnie Weller. The entertainment opened with a welcome song by the beginners' class, followed by a Mother's Day drill presented by the primary class. Miss Laurie Albert read a poem, "A Tribute to Mother"; Beth Ann Nicholson recited "Grandma on Mother's Day"; two songs were sung by the older girls' groups; Mrs. Robert Jamieson offered a Mother's Day Prayer and all joined in singing an appropriate hymn.

Deac Lay Answers Questions About The Airport

Q. Why should we pay taxes to improve the Bradford Airport?

A. Because Warren County needs the use of an airport where planes, including jets (not the same as jet prop planes) can land and take off with dependability. Industry and business say they need it. Warren County needs it to attract new business and industry to locate in our county to bring in more money and more jobs... to keep our young people here. Long study HAS been made and this is an opportunity we cannot afford to miss.

Q. Why should we pay taxes to provide business and industry with airport use?

A. For the same reason you pay taxes to provide roads that they also use. Industry and business pay taxes, too, to pay for schools, to build and maintain roads, for airports, and everything that you do. They also pay salaries to persons who pay taxes. One factory pays half of the real estate taxes of its entire township.

Q. Why shouldn't airlines build their own airports instead of having free use of this one?

A. Airlines do not have free use. They pay fuel tax, landing fees, office space rental. Trucks do not build their own private roads. Areas are willing to provide airports because airline service brings money in, rather than drain it out.

Q. How much money are we committed to pay?

A. We have agreed to pay $51,000 divided into five yearly payments THAT IS ALL. We can stop there if we decide to.

Q. But what about our losing the $51,000 "down the drain" if Warren County should drop out?

A. If we should decide not to go on, we would no longer own any part of the airport. BUT the airport would still be there. The improvements our money helped to make possible would still be there. Warren County people would still be able to use the airport. We would have our money's worth and over. NO, our money will not go down any drain.

Q. Just how much do we pay this year?

A. For every ten dollars you pay to your local tax collector, 1 4/10 cents is for the airport. For every hundred dollars, 14 cents is for the airport. You can add yours up.

Q. Why then are we hearing so much about the great tax burden from the airport?

A. Haven't you heard? This is election year. If some candidate thinks he can scare you into voting for him instead of for me, scare you by blowing 40 cents a year per average person for a much needed airport into "millions," he will try it. I believe you are smarter than he thinks you are. You hear "hot air" about "big spending." You know your taxes did not go up this year. Careful spending keeps taxes from going up. Vote for Deac Lay, the man who spends full time making sure your tax money isn't wasted.

County Teens See Law Day

By SANDI SMITH

Monday, May 1, was designated as Law Day by the President of the United States. Its purpose was to pay national tribute to our court system and to promote interest in the government.

In observance of Law Day in Warren County, the senior classes of Youngsville, Sheffield, and Tidoute high schools were invited to visit the Warren County Courthouse.

At that time, seniors were given an opportunity to hear the scheduling of the court calendar and to meet the various court officers and become familiar with their specific duties. They stressed the complexity of our court system and the rapid changes taking place in the laws of our country.

The seniors' day in court enabled them to become familiar with the Warren County Courthouse and to better understand our county system of government.

NHS Dance Style With Pics

By ZENO HENNINGER

Last Saturday night the National Honor Society sponsored a dance. But it wasn't any ordinary dance.

As one walked in the door, pictures of people like Elvis Presley, Rick Nelson, old pictures of the Beatles, along with old record titles, were seen along the walls of the lobby.

In the dance area, slogans such as "The Warren wallflowers weekly wipeout", and "How do you catch a guy without track shoes?" were put on the wall.

The music didn't sound like the latest either. For this was the Honor Society's "Golden Oldie" dance. Records such as "Hey Little Cobra", "Goldfinger", "Do the Freddie" and many other old ones were featured.

Records were furnished by: WNAE, Tech Spec collection, Bob DeLong, and Doug Coates. The dance appeared to be a large success.

WORK OUT WITH 'MONSTER'

Florida Teens in Shape

By KAY BARTLETT

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It's hot, it's dusty, it's hard work, it leaves the kids doubled over and out of breath — and the kids love it.

They call it the "Monster." "It builds up your arms for basketball," volunteered free-kick-faced Mark Richmond, 14.

"It didn't feel so good neither," said Warren Harris, 14, who set the school record for hanging sit-ups with 112 in a row.

"I come over and practice on Saturdays," said John Montero, 15.

Besides the usual parallel bars and swinging ropes, the sprawling 300-yard obstacle course at Parkway Junior High has some bizarre touches such as a device where the kids swing across the parched earth on sawed-off baseball bats hanging on a bar.

The "Monster" is one of the ways Florida carries out the President's physical fitness program and for the second straight year the state's youngsters have won more of the President's awards than their counterparts in any other states.

The program's test sit-ups, shuttle run, standing broad jump, 50-yard dash, softball throw, 600-yard run and pull-ups for boys and the flexed-arm hanging for girls — is duck soup to the youngster who can conquer the "Monster."

To the flabby bystander watching kids dash the sun-bleached course in temperatures that register 85 degrees in the shade, the peg board looks the toughest.

The kids reach up and grab steel spikes with an arm over arm motion — no feet allowed — and pull themselves up by poking the spikes in the pegs.

Statistically, there's not one solid reason why Florida should lead the President's list: The state's physical education teachers are actually paid less than teachers in most states, the statewide requirements for physical education are average and the number of children tested for the president's special award is not disproportionate.

But the officials charged with making the sun-tanned kids of Florida healthy in body have a variety of reasons.

"Air-conditioned weather," said T. J. (Ted) Bleier, head of big Dade County's Physical Education Department, where 20 per cent of Florida's youngsters go to school.

"And naturally we get outdoors all the time and take advantage of it. It's not the same as if you were up North and restricted to a gymnasium."

Florida's pride in its achievement of being first in the nation is second only to its pride in beating archrival California, which placed second with 732 winners through March as compared with Florida's 748.

Sheffield Teens on Television

By JILL BURGASON

Next Wednesday, three students from Sheffield High School and their South American "sisters" are scheduled to appear on television.

Appearing on "Meet the Millers" will be Diane Leseman and Patricia Dufour, Karen Trubric and Silvia Lopes, and Jill Burgason and Maria Vidal. The show is scheduled to be broadcast at 1:00 on May 10 on Channel 4, Buffalo.

The six girls were taken to Buffalo by Mr. Donald Lang, student council advisor, on March 6. On that day they taped the show.

The three exchange students have returned to their homes and will be unable to see the show. Silvia Lopes returned to her home in Sao Paulo, Brazil in early March. Maria Vidal, of Lima, Peru, returned in Mid-March, and Patricia Dufour returned to San Juan, Argentina at the end of March.

When recording the show the three American "sisters" were presented first. They talked about how rewarding it was to have a student at their homes. The three exchange students appeared next and talked about their native lands.

This was a new and rewarding experience for all the students.

MAY HAVE YOUTH CENTER

Kane Teens Make Peace

KANE—A rift between the adult and teenage segments of the community appears to be shrinking.

Two weeks ago, the situation was so tense that a demonstration had been called for at Kane High School, brought about by enforcement of school regulations on long haircuts. The demonstration never came off because it rained.

As it stands now, the teenagers of Kane can have a teenage center with the blessings of Kane city council. That is, if the teenagers want it.

The solution of much of the difference in opinions became apparent Monday night at a meeting of the city council. Perturbed by what Police Chief Elmer Smith termed loitering after darkness in the business district, the city council passed an ordinance calling for a 10 p.m. curfew for everyone up to 18 years of age.

The councilmen softened the blow, however, by not making the ordinance effective immediately. Instead, they left its enforcement up to the discretion of the mayor or the chief of police.

At the same time, city councilman Gail Mortenson said he met with the Student Council of Kane High School on the curfew ordinance before it came before the council. He termed the meeting mutually beneficial.

At the Monday meeting, councilmen said they would consider contributions to the support of a teen club "if such a venture is proposed and carried out here." That leaves it up to the teenagers.

FHA Banquet Held Tuesday For Sheffield

By JILL BURGASON

"F.H.A. Becomes of Age" was the theme for the F.H.A. banquet which was held at the Sheffield High School Cafeteria on May 2. Chapters from Warren, Youngsville, Eisenhower, and Sheffield were present when the 21st anniversary of F.H.A. was celebrated.

A fashion show was the high point of the evening. Sheffield girls modeled clothes from between the years of 1946 and 1951, and Warren took the years 1951-1956. The following years were divided up with Eisenhower taking 1956-1961, and Youngsville taking 1961-1967. The finale of the fashion show was all the girls wearing outfits they had made.

At this meeting the installation of new officers and the presentation of the Betty Crocker Awards took place.

FROM HOME IN PERU

Family Visits Mario Nunez

By Cindy Glotz and Mitzi Breeze

On April 12, Mr. and Mrs. Nunez, parents of foreign exchange student at Eisenhower, Mario Nunez, left Peru to visit their son here in America.

On the way here, they stopped in Mexico and spent four days there. On Thursday, April 20, they arrived at the Jamestown airport at about 8:30 p.m. They came here direct from Newark, New Jersey.

They spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday here at the home of the William Channing family of Sugar Grove. Mario is presently staying with the Channings during his stay in the States.

During the Nunez's stay here, they visited the Kinzua Dam and toured Solar Electric Division of Eltronc, Inc. where Mr. Channing is employed as General Manager.

Mr. Nunez, it seems, didn't appreciate his son's long styled hair. He wanted to cut it all off for him. In the end, Mario won—he still has his long hair!

His parents left on Saturday afternoon about 4:00 p.m. They seemed to enjoy their visit here and even came up to Eisenhower one day to see it and how it operates.

While talking to Mario, he commented on some of the differences between his country and ours. The main difference he noted was the school system. In Peru they have a school for girls only, and a school for boys only. The boys take a five-year military training course from the time they are about 11 years old. At about 15 or 16 years, they graduate and after that can go on to a college or university. They usually don't think about getting a job until they get married. Some of their colleges are state owned, and therefore are free to the students. But these colleges are more difficult to get accepted by. Another fact he noted was the hours we were in school. Here, we attend for seven hours straight, from 8:30 to 3:15. There, they go two times daily. They go in the morning from 8 to 12, and then in the afternoon from 2 to 6. When they get home at 6, they work on homework for quite a while, because they usually have a lot. Also in Peru, they have two classes, and then there is a fifteen minute rest period.

Another difference is our weather. In Peru, they have no snow. Their coldest temperature is about 55 degrees and their high is anywhere from 90 degrees to 100 degrees in the summer. Mario's summer is in January, February, and March. Mario made this comment about our Pennsylvania climate, "I don't trust your weather!"

Mario will be leaving sometime in June, but the date is not definite as yet. We do know that when Mario does leave, he will leave a lot of friends behind that will always remember him as that fun-loving, flirtatious, young Peruvian boy who spent his senior year here with us at E.H.S.

By KAYE GORENFLO

The A Cappella Choir of Warren High will hold their annual Spring Concert Thursday.

For the last concert of the year, the theme will be "Soda Shoppe," and the program features selections from many different categories of music.

Since it is spring and in spring "a man's fancy turns to love," several of the songs of the evening will be done with this in mind.

"Love is a Many-Splendored Thing" and "While We're Young" will be sung for those who enjoy hearts and flowers songs. For those in the audience that enjoy spirituals, an old favorite, "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel" will be sung, and for those who prefer classical works, two Bachs, "All Breathing Life" and "Sanctus" will be presented.

Since this will be the final concert for many of the choir members, some seniors are singing solos or taking part in duets. Denny DeLuca will sing "Turtle Dove," Craig Gardner will also sing a solo, and Sue Fogle and Ross Bryan will share a duet.

For the departing seniors, A Cappella award pins will be presented in appreciation for the time and effort they have devoted to choir.

Because it is the final concert of the year and the last time that this year's choir will perform together, a full house is expected. Tickets may be purchased by any choir member and at the B & B Smoke Shop at the usual price of 50 cents. The program will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Warren High Auditorium.

Warren Families Act to Save Dogs

All five of the dogs needing permanent homes last Saturday are now alive and happy in new homes, it was reported at the May meeting of the Warren County Humane Society last Wednesday evening. Also 20 discarded dogs were placed in permanent homes during the month of April. Two generous offers were made. One woman will take care of dogs temporarily in her barn, if she is supplied with dog kennel-cages. It was voted by the group to buy as many cages as were needed. The other offer was from a woman who will also keep dogs temporarily if the Humane Society will finance the cost of having some kennel-cages which she has put together. This also received unanimous vote by the society members. Mrs. Robert Voigt was named chairman of a Humane Society float for the coming Fourth of July parade. Mrs. R. Z. Morrison was appointed to investigate possibilities for a permanent dog shelter.

A letter was read from Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, written April 3, 1967, stating that it has approved grants for the erection of dog shelters in two counties. State funds will be available for an approved shelter at the rate of $1 for every $2 invested by the agency. The minimum payment is $1,000; the maximum: $15,000. The next meeting will be held the first Wednesday evening in June, which is June 7. It will be at the home of Mrs. Morrison on Market street.

Thirty four students of the Lander school fifth grade with their teacher, Thomas Grande, and the following parents, Mrs. Leonard Siliano, Mrs. Harold Bloomgren, Mrs. Ralph Shaffer Jr., Mrs. Gerald Falconer, Mrs. Frank Coffero and Richard Wadsworth enjoyed a trip to Pittsburgh on Friday.

They left Lander at 5:45 a.m. and some of the places they visited were: Carnegie Museum, lunch at Isleys, Buhl Planetarium, Sky show and science exhibits and the Duquesne Incline which they all had a chance to ride on. They also enjoyed the "Smorgasbord" at Johnnie Garneau's. They arrived back at Lander about midnight.

Mr. Massa, the bus driver, was very helpful and it is a trip that all will remember. The children had earned all the money to pay for the trip by selling Christmas cards, candy and bake sales.

Warren County Man Charged After Accident

A Warren County man has been charged with driving under the influence following a two-car traffic accident at 8:25 p.m. Wednesday.

According to police, Waters said he saw the Fehlman vehicle stop for a stop sign but start out into the intersection. Following the impact, police stated, Fehlman continued to travel up Water st. with Waters in pursuit.

Fitch said the Fehlman car was stopped at the intersection of Henry st. and Seventh ave., about six blocks from the accident scene.

Total damage was listed at $300.

GUESS WHO OWNS THE CAR YOU BOUGHT

You have selected the car you want. You have agreed on price, terms and guarantee.

You (or your father) have made the down payment, signed the conditional sales contract, secured the chattel mortgage to cover financing, acquired the necessary insurance.

Hands have been shaken all the way around.

At last, you own a car!

Well, not quite.

At worst, you have made a down payment, committed yourself to a long debt, bought some expensive insurance, assumed all responsibility for the car.

And you don't own so much as a bolt that holds on a license plate and won't own even that much until the car is paid off.

At best, you have care and control of an automobile for as long as you live up to the terms of your contracts. But as long as you are under contract, other people have control of you and what you do with or to your car.

Of course, if you have bought the car for cash, it is yours, and you only have two bosses telling you what you can and can't do to and with your car—the state and the insurance company.

I want to tell you a few automobile horror stories, in which no blood is shed and which are written in the fine print of contracts. Some I know have happened; others may have. All can happen, and any one might happen to you.

1. The Missouri River is all that separates Council Bluffs, Iowa, from Omaha, Nebraska. Actually, they are like one city. One night, a Council Bluffs' high school had a basketball game across the river in Omaha. Tom Teen loaded his new car with a bunch of friends and drove across the river to see the game.

The trip across the bridge cost him his car. According to terms on the conditional sales contract, he had no right to take the car out of the state without permission of the seller. 2. Joe Swinger saw a car for sale that he wanted. He signed an agreement to buy one afternoon, then showed up the next morning with the cash.

A month went by, during which Joe drove the car as hard as he could, until it began to fail. He took the car back to the dealer and demanded they take back the car and give him his money. "I am a minor," Joe explained. "Therefore, you cannot hold me to the contract I signed to buy the car."

"What you say was true," replied the dealer. "I could not hold you legally to the contract you signed had you wanted to back out of it. But when you paid in full for the car, the contract ceased to exist and became a purchase. And a teen-ager can make a purchase. The car, my boy, is yours."

3. Roger Readnot bought a car. He made a down payment and arranged the financing, all through the kindly roadside agent from whom he bought the car.

The whole thing was so friendly, Roger never bothered to read the contracts he signed. The print was small, the terms confusing, and he was anxious to get going.

Roger paid the monthly installments regularly for eight months, and then he had car trouble. Being pressed for cash, he decided to skip a car payment, pay for repairs, then resume paying again.

After all, he only had four payments left, a total of $86 owing against $414 already paid in.

He missed a payment on Monday. On Tuesday, they came and took the car back.

"You can't take my car for a little thing like being a day late on a payment," Roger protested.

"Your car?" the roadside agent answered. "It's not your car and never was. The title is in my name and stays in my name until the car is fully paid for. All I'm doing, as I have perfect right to, is taking back my own property. And keeping the $414, of course."

"I need a car to go to work in," Roger protested. "What am I going to do?"

"Well," the roadside agent replied, "I have a real good car here that you drove until yesterday. I'll sell it to you for $500."

4. Sam Swift bought a car and financed it through a bank. Sam loved to drive, but he hated to spend any money on such luxuries as good tires, oil changes, or keeping rust spots in check. He paid for his car every month on the dot and drove it to suit himself.

One day, the banker who had made the loan got a good look at the car. The next thing Sam knew, he had his choice between putting his car in good condition or having it repossessed.

Because some of the fine print he signed his name under was a promise to keep the car in good condition, and his giving the bank the power to repossess the car if they felt it was being badly used.

5. Charley Custom bought a car and spent hundreds of dollars and hundreds of hours of work to make it something really special. New paint, new body lines, new placement of taillights and headlights. . .

It was a one-of-a-kind car when he got through with it.

The first time he took it for a ride, he was arrested. Why? He had failed to check with the state about vehicle laws, and his lights were of an illegal kind, illegally placed. What he did, he had to undo.

As far as I know, only one of these "cases" actually happened: the third. But the point is, any of them can happen.

It is almost unheard of for a seller or a bank to take some of the actions I have described. Generally, they do everything they can not only to avoid trouble and troubling, but also to keep the customer happy.

The strict rules and regulations of the contract are there to protect the seller and lender from the extreme case: from people who would abuse more lenient terms.

But as long as they are there, they can be used. And you never know when you might be the one they are used against.

It is of extreme importance to you that you both read and understand the terms of every paper you sign, or that is signed for you.

Crippen Appointed to OEO Board

The Warren County Commissioners yesterday named Glenn Elliott to serve as vice-chairman of the county zoning board of adjustment.

Elliott, who has been acting as alternate member to James Frantz, whose term expires, now will hold a regular position on the board.

The commissioners also unanimously appointed three alternates to the adjustment board, John Eberly, attorney; Jeremy S. Fisher, architect and Mrs. Walter Bergler.

In other business, Commissioner Lewis L. Crippen volunteered and was elected a director of the Warren Forest County Economic Opportunities Council.

The council has changed its bylaws to permit a 14-member board with six additional members to be elected at the annual meeting of corporation members.

In volunteering to represent the county commissioners on the EOC board, Crippen had this to say:

"Thirty-five citizens of Warren and Forest Counties have joined voluntarily the Economic Opportunity Council to assist in providing better conditions for many of Warren and Forest counties citizens. I'm proud to be part of that organization and to associate with the substantial citizens who have given so generously of their time to benefit their neighbors who have been less fortunate.

"Right now, a large number of young people otherwise unemployed are gainfully employed on civic projects because of the Economic Opportunity Council. Warren Borough and Youngsville borough are using the technical assistance of the Economic Opportunity Council as they develop plans for medium-priced housing units for elderly citizens. Surveys are revealing the correctable economic conditions and plans are being prepared to permit every citizen to share equally in our nation's prosperity.

More than 10 per cent, or over 4,500 of our population, are over 62 years of age. Most of them have annual incomes of less than $3,000.

"In the most recent issues of Church and Home, a publication of the Evangelical United Brethren church, this statement is emphasized: 'It is, of course, a disgrace, an outrage, a stench in the nostrils of God, that the wealthiest nation in the history of the world should allow 35 million of our citizens to live in degraded poverty.'

"It is equally disgraceful for affluent Warren County to permit any of its citizens to be in the below $3,000 annual family income level without exerting efforts to give them better economic opportunities."

NO JAIL FOR SLIM JIMS

POPULAR BLUFFE, Mo. (AP) — The Butler County Jail is having its cell bars placed closer together.

The other night a 15-year-old boy, only 70 pounds, squeezed through the bars of his cell and slid down some blankets tied together to freedom.

Vietnam Slides Viewed By Lions

Attorney John Eberly of Warren was guest speaker when the Tidoute Lions Club held its dinner meeting Tuesday night at the Pittsburgher Supper Club. Mr. Eberly showed colored slides and narrated the scenes of his tour of duty in Vietnam during 1965-66.

work, play, and shop for food and merchandise. Twenty-six local members and thirteen guests from Tionesta and Union City attended.

During the directors' meeting a discussion focused on ways the Lions Club might raise money in the community to assist the Tidoute Fortnightly Club and the Future Teachers of America in sending Tidoute's first exchange student, Ed Ziegler, to Argentina this summer.

BAD, BAD, BAD LUCK

SALYERSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — One of Bob Prater's friends decided to defy the Friday the 13th lynch by walking under a ladder.

As the man did so, he tripped over a black cat and broke both his ankles and his New Year's resolution.

The resolution had been not to swear for an entire year.
